Housing Project Worker Killed By Clam Shovel

Brother at Helm As Machine Goes Out of Control

A 28-year-old Parkland man was killed when a clam shovel operated by his brother swung out of control and pinned him beneath the boom of a housing project development at Bridgeton pike and Bristol avenue, Southampton, yesterday.

The victim, Stanley G. Huber, of 27 Lincoln Highway, Parkland, was rushed to Nazareth Hospital Philadelphia, by the Treves Heights Rescue Squad. Physicians pronounced him dead on arrival.

Brother Suffers Shock

The grief-stricken brother, Charles, also of Parkland, was taken from the scene by a fellow worker. He suffered a severe case of shock.

Also injured when the faulty machine collapsed was Neil Y. McDowell, a Mt. Holly, N. J. contractor. He was treated for lacerations of the scalp. Lower Southampton police said McDowell was standing near Stanley Huber.

Trouble Before

Police said McDowell's subcontracting firm had trouble with the shovel before and it had been repaired several times.

The two men were watching Huber's brother operate the machine. Charles, trying to cope with the mechanical difficulties of the

Circulation and Advertising Keep Pace With Courier's Giant Expansion Program

Ad Lineage Gets 39 Per Cent Hike For Past Month

Retail advertising lineage in THE BRISTOL COURIER increased by more than 39 per cent—approximately 98,000 lines—during the past month.

The "lines" are column-width lines of 14 to the inch—agate type, traditional measure of advertising space in newspapers. During the month just ended, space totaling nearly 100,000 more such lines was taken in the corresponding month of 1952.

The increased lineage for September was reported by Joseph H. Elbertson, advertising manager of THE COURIER, who last month reported a 22 1/2 per cent increase for August, 1953, over August, 1952.

Significant Rise

The increase figures for these past two months are particularly significant in view of the fact that almost the entire period fell prior to use by THE COURIER of its new, modern, high-speed printing press and the installation or activation of other new equipment and services designed to facilitate multi-paged editions with more space for advertising.

"Demand for advertising space," Elbertson reported, "has been on the increase for a long time. But THE COURIER has been unable, until very recently, to accommodate the full demand."

Set Limits

"It was necessary," Mr. Elbertson said, "to establish and maintain space limitations."

"This was because, when we were using the old flat-bed press, an eight-page paper was standard and to add more pages involved pre-runs and stuffing operations that were time-consuming and restrictive."

"Now, space limitations are a thing of the past."

Veterans Promised Quick Decision In Building Row

Decision by the Veterans Administration regional office in Philadelphia on the complaint of 16 Fairless Hills veterans against the Danherst Corp., builders, is expected in a "few days."

Attorney Walter Jackson of Bristol, who represents the veterans, said the VA will have an announcement shortly.

The veterans have stated that the Danherst firm has not applied for G. I. financing, yet will not return their VA eligibility certificates. The veterans reportedly are disappointed in their new homes, but cannot move out to buy new ones on G. I. loans because of Danherst policy.

Finishing Touches

LANGHORNE'S NEW storm drainage system is almost complete. Charles Michaux, Philadelphia, left, and Frank Selock, Burlington, N. J., right, are installing a radius as part of the project which is due to be finished next week. A total of 28 inlets and radii, 6 man-holes and 2600 feet of pipe have been installed.

You Can Still Get A Special Edition

In case you didn't get one, there are still a limited number of copies of the "Meet Your Neighbor" edition of The Bristol COURIER on hand.

You may get a copy by calling at the business office of the COURIER, 806-808 Beaver Street, or by telephoning, Bristol 8-7846 or 8-7847 and 8-1457.

Distribution of 25,000 copies of the edition had been guaranteed, but actually 28,938 were delivered to homes in Lower Bucks County.

Special Edition Of COURIER Wins Wide Acclaim

The "Meet Your Neighbor" edition of The Bristol COURIER, distributed Wednesday to 28,938 homes in Lower Bucks County, got a very neighborly reception.

Business men, civic leaders, municipal officials and representatives of industry and finance examined the 48-page special edition and found it "excellent."

Found It Very Good

Typical was the comment of Norman Vogel, president of Bristol's Mill Street Businessmen's Association:

"Very good. I'd like to see one every day. I was very enthusiastic about it."

Said Alex Pollett, public relations aide to Levitt & Sons, Inc., builders of Levittown:

"It looked wonderful."

Gallagher Pleased

John Gallagher, president of the Bristol Borough Council, said of the edition:

"I am very well pleased with it. You people are really going to town over there with your newspaper."

"It was interesting."

John Collins, president of the Falls Township Civic Association, declared:

"Looks very good. What I saw of it was interesting. I think it was quite an improvement."

Edgar J. Spencer, Bristol businessman and chairman of the Chamber of Commerce traffic committee said:

"I thought it was very nice. I thought the article on traffic was very good. I liked the whole issue."

Chief Jones Impressed

Chief Linford J. Jones of the Bristol Borough Police was "very much impressed" with the edition.

John H. Wintersteen, public relations director for Kaiser Metal Products, Inc., Bristol, said:

"A newspaper is a reflection of the people and the area it serves. Thus the improved news coverage and mechanical excellence which has been attained by THE COURIER in recent months mirrors the tremendous growth that has taken

Paid Circulation Increases Rapidly During September

The circulation of The Bristol Courier has risen more than 11 per cent in the past year and has shown an even sharper rise—better than 14 per cent—in September. The net paid circulation as of Sept. 30 was 7471.

This compares with a net paid circulation of 6719 as of Sept. 30, 1952.

Average Figures

Both these figures represent average daily circulations for an entire year—the 6719 for the 12-month period preceding Sept. 30, 1952; the 7471 for the 12 months that ended Wednesday.

The daily average net paid circulation for the month of September was 7671, a matter of 200 copies daily above the full year's average and nearly 1000 copies a day above the preceding year's average.

Campaign Planned

Circulation Wednesday of 28,938 copies of the Courier's special "Meet Your Neighbor" edition represented, among other things, the opening of a campaign to keep the rising circulation rising.

The goal is daily delivery of THE COURIER, Lower Bucks County's Own Daily, to every home in the area. There are approximately 30,000 homes here now and conservative estimates set a figure of 50,000 residences for the near future.

Birthday Cards Pile Up For Ike and Mamie

HARRISBURG, Oct. 2 — INS—The postman for Hershey, Pa., is holding up the delivery of some mail.

Most of it is addressed to the Little White House and salutations include "Ike and Mamie," "America's No. 1 Citizens," or "The President and First Lady."

The President's birthday committee said the cards—probably many of thousands that will be sent to the small central Pennsylvania community—will be delivered to President Eisenhower at his pre-birthday party at Hershey Oct. 13.

Langhorne Man Leaves $123,000 In Total Estate

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 2—Alfred M. Wildman, Langhorne, former hardware merchant and electric company head, left an estate of $123,000, according to his will probated in the Register of Wills office here.

The testator, who died Aug. 13, left a personal estate of $100,000 and real estate valued at $23,000. The will was dated July 9, 1948. The testator was Charles Wildman, Houston, Texas; Charles Wildman, Middletown Township, and the Peoples National Bank & Trust Co., were named executors.

$200 Trust Fund

A $200 trust fund was created for the benefit of the Middletown Society of Friends to provide care for burial plots.

Paul Brown and Anna Brown, no relation, were bequeathed $200 each.

Ruth A. Wildman, a daughter, was bequeathed a property at 134 West Maple avenue, Langhorne.

The testator stipulated that his daughter inherit three-sixths of the estate and Florence W. Trullinger and Marshall and Charles Wildman share the remaining three-sixths of the residuary balance.

$70,000 Estate

Helen M. C. Barnes, Yardley, who left an estate of $70,000, bequeathed $5000 to the Newtown Friends Boarding Home and $25,000 to the Reid Memorial Hospital, Richmond, Indiana, which shall be known as the Edward Yarrington Barnes Memorial Fund.

The testatrix, who died Aug. 13, left a personal estate valued at $50,000 and real estate valued at $20,000. Brinton H. Hogeland was named executor of the will which was dated Aug. 15, 1949.

Gwendolin C. Franklin, Haverford, was bequeathed $25,000.

Richard E. Robinson, Cleveland, Ohio, was bequeathed $5000.

The Richmond Day Nursery Association was bequeathed $5000 in memory of Mrs. W. P. Robinson.

Hospital Is Beneficiary

The Reid Memorial Hospital, Richmond, Indiana, was named the residuary beneficiary of the estate. The testatrix stipulated that in case Gwendolin is no longer living at the time of the probating of the will her $25,000 bequest shall be

State Bars 'Free Hand' On Levitt School Plans

Following The Teacher's Example

JOAN FORESTAL, 1211 Pine Grove street, eighth grade student at Bristol High School, takes advantage of a rare opportunity to copy in school. With the assistance of William Bagley, art teacher, she sketches one of the paintings by the school's teachers, exhibited in room 201 of the high school.

GOP Challenges Charges by Foe At Levittown

John J. McInerney, of 37 Wisteria lane, Levittown-Falls Township Republican committeeman, today disputed a statement in which A. Patrick Brennan, Democratic chairman in the new community, said the township supervisors and school board are not providing adequate services in Levittown.

"Brennan stated that street lights are still dark in Falls Township sections of Levittown," McInerney said. "The fact of the matter is that there are no Falls Township sections of Levittown unlighted where street lights are completed enough to be turned on."

"North Park section is the only Falls Township section where street lights are not on. The circuits have not been completed in the newly built North Park district. It has been through the efforts of the Republican supervisors of Falls Township that Levitt & Sons have turned on the street lights in the new Thornridge section before the streets have been accepted by the Falls Township supervisors."

In reply to Brennan's statement that Levittown streets "are practically ignored by the Falls Township police force," John Custer, supervisor, said: "One patrol car is assigned to the Falls section of Levittown for 24 hours per day. At the same time three other patrol cars can be in Levittown in the matter of minutes through their radio hook-up."

McInerney further said: "In regard to Brennan's statement about Falls township school board taking tax money out of Levittown and building schools in Fairless Hills and Fallsington, Brennan again shows himself woefully ignorant about the facts of the school situation in Falls Township. Mr. Brennan does not seem to know that a fine new elementary school is now actually under construction in the heart of Falls Township Levittown."

"Plans were being worked upon and being drawn up long before a single Levitt home was built in the Levittown section of Falls Township. Education throughout the county and state have praised the foresight and aggressiveness of the Republican school board of

Langhorne Council To Take No Action On Water Increase

Members of the Langhorne Borough Council last night announced that they will take no action on the proposed increase of water rates by the Langhorne Spring Water Company.

Council Secretary William J. Palmer said the borough council is not affected by the increase. The letter from the firm states "that all rates will increase, except public fire protection, and will become effective December 1, 1953."

"If complaints are to be made," added Palmer, "they should be made by local civic organizations, not by the council. The increase of 1 1/2 cents per day is aimed at private families."

Flash of Light Repeats Trip in Evening Skies

Maybe lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place, but meteorologists apparently do—at least according to Stephen Wisinski, 48 Rogers road, Bristol twp.

Wisinski, who observed the meteor that flashed through the skies at 6:30 p. m. saw the phenomena repeated at 6:30 last night.

He and his daughter, Patricia, 7, were walking to a neighbor's house. Suddenly Patricia shouted: "Look at that again!" Wisinski looked, and from the direction of Langhorne, he saw a bright yellow light streak across the sky toward Silver Lake. It then dispersed and scattered bright light as it fell to the ground. According to Wisinski, the flight lasted for about three or four seconds.

Other observers said they had seen a white or silvery light, the color of a star, streak through the sky. They said it traveled through the skies for a long time, turned bright red, seemingly afire, and then disappeared.

Officials of the Trenton State Fair offered a possible explanation. They said that a searchlight is turned on every evening about 6 to assist in the landing of a helicopter which transports mail to New York.

It was also pointed out that the plane flashes its own lights, too, before landing and could be mistaken for a meteor.

Falls Township Adds 4 Police

Four new policemen were added to the Falls Township police force yesterday, increasing the size of the force to 14.

The new men are West Worsman, Fallsington; Rocco DeRosa, Falls Township; Robert Gallagher, Oxford Valley, and Lyle Gass, Falls Township. The men do not have uniforms as yet, but they are expected by Oct. 18, according to Chief Franklin Kirby.

Man Flies Here To Admit Theft, Abandoning Auto

A 22-year-old Levittown man flew here from Texas yesterday and admitted stealing a car from Croydon last week-end, according to Bristol twp. police.

The suspect was identified as Robert Caughie, of 31 Needlepine lane, who, according to Officer William Jayne, admitted taking the two-door sedan of Donald Martin from the owner's driveway at 219 Neshaminy road, Croydon.

According to Jayne, Caughie said he took the car late Saturday night after a party and drove to Maryland, abandoned the car, and hitchhiked to a sister's home in Texas. A Texas attorney advised him to return home and give himself up. Caughie told police of Bristol borough and township.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Edward Lynn for larceny of an automobile, Caughie was held for a further hearing. Maryland State Police are looking for the stolen car.

Board Members Thrown Aback By Legal Opinion

HARRISBURG, Oct. 2 — The Commonwealth does not intend to give a construction firm a "free hand" to build two schools in Bucks county.

The statement from Deputy Attorney General Elmer T. Bolla came on the heels of an offer by Levitt and Sons, Inc., to put up two 20-room elementary schools at Levittown to ease overcrowded conditions.

The firm offered to undertake the construction on a non-profit basis provided that it would have a "free hand."

Must Be Approved

Bolla said no school district can start a construction program without prior approval of the State Department of Public Instruction and contracts must be awarded to the lowest bidder.

He said: "The law requires state approval on items such as design, location, usefulness, safety, comfort, convenience, and the ability of the district to finance the project."

The deputy attorney-general added, "If these safeguards are regarded in some quarters as red tape, experience has convinced the legislature that they are necessary."

Although somewhat taken aback

by the statement of Deputy Attorney General Bolla, Bristol Township School Board members reaffirmed their stand on backing Levitt in his unprecedented offer. No surprise was registered by any of the board, they said, in part, that they expected "complications."

Moves Too Fast

Edgar Spencer, member of the Bristol Township School Board, said he was fearful that "that every thing was moving too fast to possibly agree with Mr. Levitt's 30-day limit for approval from the board to construct the two schools."

"I was afraid state approval would not be as quick as hoped. In order to achieve the magnanimous offer that Mr. Levitt has given us, it will be necessary to jump over the heads of many state officials."

"In addition local and county approval we must, and I emphasize must, have approval from the state before we can go ahead with such a scheme. Without sanction from the state we would have to saddle the entire debt on the township."

"Normally the State Department of Education would back us up to the extent of 49.7 percent of the total expense of constructing the schools—but only with approval. However, we have not given up, we will try to determine some

Housing Project

Dr. Charles Boehm, attending a educational forum in Baltimore, Md., was not available for comment. William J. Levitt also was not available for comment.

A proposed meeting between Dr. Boehm and Levitt, along with school board officials will take place Monday morning. The meeting will take place in the Levitt Company's office.

A discussion of the ways and means of circumventing the official "red tape" will be discussed. Levitt's original request to build two 20 room elementary schools at a cost of not more than $800,000, providing he could have a "free hand in the construction of the schools" received a temporary setback when Dr. Boehm told Levitt that a state law requires all school construction must be open to public bidding and plans must be approved by the state.

Levitt Counters

Levitt countered that he was not opposed to public bidding, because he felt that his bid could not be met. He had planned to have the schools ready for use by the Fall of 1954, but he said "red tape" would slow down the entire project.

In hope of speeding up plans Dr. Boehm suggested that plans for the two schools which have already been approved by the State Department of Public Instruction be used as models. Levitt agreed to this.

Although the plans that Mr. Levitt has in mind do not include an auditorium and a lunchroom, plans will include provisions which will allow a later addition of these rooms.

Russell Straub, president of the school board, said that state law requires that all new schools must have lunch room and an auditorium.

Paper Commended

"The COURIER is to be commended for its determination to give this area a better newspaper, as was evidenced by the 'Meet Your Neighbor' special edition."

Clyde J. Waterman, president of the Bristol Trust Co., president of the Bucks County United Services Federation and a director of the Bristol - Lower Bucks Chamber of Commerce, commented:

"I just thought it was wonderful. I think if more of that sort of thing is done, Bristol will really develop into a first class city."

John C. Johnson, cashier of the Farmers National Bank of Bucks County, and a director of Bristol-Lower Bucks Chamber of Commerce: "I think it is exactly what this area needed, to know what activities are taking place. Not only did I like the special edition, but all issues of the Bristol COURIER, which have improved so greatly that we have heard innumerable favorable comments."

The trailer, which had been parked at Timber street and Turnabout lane, Levittown, for five weeks, burst into flame at 11:25 a. m. The fire completely destroyed the trailer, which had been filled with contractors' supplies.

Firemen assumed the trailer's owner was doing contracting work in the area, but they were unable to identify or locate the owner.

According to Falls Township Police Chief Franklin Kirby, there were no identifying marks on the trailer, and none could be ascertained from the ruined supplies. It was estimated, however, that the financial loss was considerable. Police are continuing their search for the owner.

You'll agree that any business organization showing such an increase in its sales is enjoying a healthy and impressive growth. This tremendous jump . . . 39% . . . represents the increase in advertising which the Bristol Courier accomplished in the month just ended over the corresponding month in 1952! IN SEPTEMBER, 1952, OUR TOTAL WAS 253,085 LINES. IN SEPTEMBER, 1953, OUR TOTAL WAS 350,952 LINES. IN OTHER WORDS, OUR INCREASE WAS 97,867 LINES! Amazing? Perhaps, but more businesses are discovering every day that consistent use of the Courier's advertising columns will favorably influence their sales volume. Yes, it pays to advertise in Lower Bucks County's Own Daily . . .]

PLACE NAMES In BUCKS COUNTY

Excerpts from the book of that name, published by The Bucks County Historical Society, an historical narrative compiled by the late George MacKeynolds, librarian of that society, and copyrighted in 1912.

Andalusia

Town in the southwest corner of Bensalem township on the ancient Kings Highway (Route 156, U. S. 13). Adjacent territory bears the same name. The town is located on Poquessing Creek, the boundary between Bucks and Phila. counties. Across the stream is the town of Torresdale. All the territory from the old Fox Chase Inn, established in 1785 by Alexander Edwards, to the Union House at the junction of the old Millford road with the Kings Highway, later Bristol Pike, was known as Andalusia and it had a post office before 1830.

Stephen Sicard, whose tract adjoined Fox Chase Inn, laid out about 1820 a part of his land in lots for a town he proposed to name "Sicardville," but the project was not successful.

The post office in the present town of Andalusia was established Feb. 14, 1871, with William Pickering as postmaster. The country seat of the Biddle family on the River Delaware is also named "Andalusia," and this gave the name to the town. John Craig, a merchant of Philadelphia, bought the place in 1794, when it was an ordinary old-fashioned country farm. He built the mansion after plans made by his wife, an Irish lady with good architectural taste. A Spanish gentleman named Sarmiento married Craig's sister and he and Craig had large business connections with Spanish American provinces, which doubtless accounts for the name Andalusia, from an old province in Spain, or more likely from Andalusia New, a province of Terra Firma, South America, which M. Salmon, in his Modern Gazetteer (1759) describes as "lying on the coast of the Atlantic Ocean, opposite the Leeward Islands, having the river Orinoco on the west."

Nicholas Biddle married John Craig's daughter and thus the estate came into his possession about 1710. The mansion was enlarged by Mr. Biddle in 1832, when the Grecian front with its columns was added to the facade, giving it an impressive appearance from the river. The wings were built at the same time. Nicholas Biddle was president of the Bank of the United States from 1823 until its charter expired on March 3, 1836. His progenitors were among the first settlers of New Jersey and Pennsylvania. His ancestor, William Biddle, was one of the early proprietors of New Jersey. Charles Biddle, Commodore Nicholas Biddle and Captain Edward Biddle were active patriots in the Revolution, Commodore Biddle having been killed when his frigate Randolph was blown up in conflict with British warships. Perhaps no other family has furnished so many men for important public functions. Its representatives in the executive, military, naval and diplomatic service and in the judiciary have shed lustre on the Biddle family name from provincial times to the present day. Another fine country seat along the river was that of the Bickleys. The mansion was erected in 1809. This property was acquired in 1877 by the Philadelphia Gun Club, successor of the old-time Holiday Shooting Club, as a club house and shooting grounds.

A visitors to the club house soon after the opening day thus describes it: "The interior and furniture is in keeping with the place, heavy sideboards, beds and bureaus of solid mahogany, old-fashioned fifty years ago and good for another century. In the hall stand weapons of the olden time, flintlock and arabesque, while around the walls hang arms from India and the ruler weapons of Thibet. The long dining room, the walls of which are covered with sporting pictures, has a large old-fashioned fireplace, which is filled with blazing logs in winter and gives an air of comfort to those who sit around the long mahogany table after a day's shooting." In 1831 and 1832 Andalusia gained unwelcome notoriety from the sensational murder there of Dr. William Chapman, principal of a school for stammerers which he had founded fourteen years before his death. The crime was committed in the summer of 1831 and was accomplished by placing arsenic in the Doctor's food. Chapman's wife, afterwards proven to have been a member of a notorious band of counterfeiters, and an impostor styling herself Lino Amalia Esposy Mina were arrested a few weeks after Chapman's death and charged with the murder. They were given separate trials at Doylestown before Judge John Fox and Associate Judges William Watts and William Long. The attorneys were District Attorney Thomas Ross and William B. Reed, Esq., for the Commonwealth; David Paul Brown and 21, 1832, on the county almshouse farm along Nesheaminy Creek at Bridge Point (now Edison), two miles south of the county seat. A prominent resident of Andalusia was Dr. Charles R. King, a grandson of Rufus King, Minister to England for seven years under President Washington. Dr. King purchased "Chelwood Farm" in 1849 and moved there from Philadelphia. He was active in community affairs and in promoting the interests of the Episcopal Church. His private library, one of the most valuable in the country, included a collection of books made by his grandfather while in England.

Andalusia Wharf

In days when Delaware River transportation was in its prime, this was a place of much activity. It was about a mile from Andalusia, nearly opposite Delanco, N. J., and fourteen miles from Philadelphia. It was the first stop within Bucks County for north-bound steamboats and sailing vessels. Through the trees, a few hundred yards below the landing, could be seen "Andalusia," the beautiful country seat of the Biddle family. The wharf, buildings and all surroundings were kept in excellent repair. Sloping stretches of green lawn were studded with ornamental shrubbery and trees and a paved driveway led to the wharf. Nearby was an attractive picnic ground called "Chestnut Grove," frequented by schools, societies and pleasure parties, most of them coming from Philadelphia. In David Scattergood's pamphlet, Delaware River (1878), is a good engraving, executed by Scattergood himself, who was an engraver, showing the wharf and its approaches at that time, with an inset of "Andalusia" mansion.

"BACK TO SCHOOL"

Yes, the days of reading, writing and arithmetic are here again. Principals and teachers are all bustling about getting the youngsters organized and settled in their different classrooms.

Now is the time to check your bus schedules carefully — there are long winter days ahead and why have the children standing on wet, windy corners.

Our obligation to you is to maintain these schedules and get the youngsters to school warm and comfy.

Premium Business Is Hundred Years Old

1851-1951

A century of premiums, that extra something you get in addition to the original product, has grown from highly colored lithographed picture cards (the earliest 1851, shown above) to a business in itself where every conceivable type of article can be acquired.

It is estimated by the Premium Advertising Association of America that about one billion dollars is spent annually for merchandise used as premiums in sales promotion. This included about 30 percent of all U.S. made chinaware; 15 percent of the enamelware, and 10 percent of the aluminum pots and pans. In addition to this is a wide variety of especially designed jewelry, unusual rings and novelties for the children. The fact is there is something available in most premium promotions for every man, woman or child in the country.

There is hardly a person in the country who has not sent in a box top from his favorite product along with a few pennies or even dollars for some article of value. The best part of the whole matter is, he is assured of getting full value for whatever money he spends due to the efforts of a group representing all phases of the industry—the Premium Association.

Not all premiums are of the box top type. There are large stores in many cities such as the one shown above, which do not have cash registers, where all merchandise is purchased by coupons saved by the customers. There are prize contests, combination sales, dealer or salesman's awards, and many more... all of them mean one thing—"something extra" for somebody.

Who buys premiums as a rule—usually the most critical purchasers, housewives and children.

Defective Burner Smokes Up Home

A fire caused by a defective oil burner at the home of Mrs. Jefferson ave., was quickly put out by the Fire Department early yesterday. Fire Chief said that only one piece of apparatus was called to the scene. Firemen cut off the electrical circuit to the burner, ventilated the basement to remove dense smoke and kept flames from spreading.

Is Your Home Next?

At this time of the year the fire departments are kept busy by fires started when oil burners back-fire. Even without fire, the damage can be extensive.

Dusting Off The News

By CHARLES O. MOLZ

Lazy Louie from Mill street was in today to borrow a quarter for breakfast and said he figured he wouldn't be selling the air conditioning stock he bought last spring—at least until the hot spell is over.

It is a good thing the lists of county candidates for November came along just as the baseball season was over, as the folks who like to keep box scores can pick right up from here.

It doesn't make much sense to look for the new Christian Dior ties for men along Mill street, as Dior can't dictate shorter pants for men or ties, either. The ties have been getting shorter for a couple of years and a lot of us are bowed already.

The Levittown levity maker, who has been reading the papers lately, says he has the creditors group that was formed to handle Dick Haymes' debts sized up as a committee that thinks it is no worse to groan than to croon.

The boys who were on the street yesterday with stooped shoulders were easy to spot. They were COURIER carriers still bent over from the heavy papers from Wednesday's special edition.

The automobile that ran loose and driverless in Fairless Hills, then crashed into an innocent building was merely trying to imitate what some automobiles do for Sunday drivers.

A neighbor of ours says he is going to the Delhaas game because he used to be platoon leader in World War II training and if they are really abolishing the platoon system in football maybe they have abolished his old topkick, too, and he is going to ask for reinstatement in the Army reserve.

'Summer' Scouting Review is Staged

A "Summer Review of Scouting" was presented by Scouts of Troop 2, for their parents and friends, Sept. 29th. The purpose of the presentation was to demonstrate to everyone what the boys have been experiencing since last June. The show consisted of skits or demonstrations of Scouting skills, one showing first aid, one signaling, and the last, camping.

The Mohawk, Pioneer, and Flying Eagle Patrols each gave a demonstration, prepared under the direction of patrol leaders.

A part of the program consisted of presentation of the standard troop award which was earned at Camp Ochanickon, Pt. Pleasant, in August. Presentation was made by Harry Vogt, chairman of troop committee. The clean camp award, also earned at camp, along with honor patrol awards, and individual advancement cards were presented by the troop committee.

Edgar Trembley, leader of the troop, gave the Scoutmaster's minutes in which he described benefits of Scouting.

The program was under direction of "Dick" Thorne, senior patrol leader.

'Hills' Kids Enjoy Annual Field Day

The first annual Field Day for children, sponsored by the Fairless Hills Civic Association, was held on Sept. 26.

The event was directed by Fred Park, Charles Rauch and Clayton Hewitt with Mr. and Mrs. James Peers, Mr. and Mrs. William Messler, Mr. and Mrs. George Dukes, Mrs. Charles Rauch, Frank Dacy, James Bradshaw, Edward Howley, Elder Hacker, H. Morris Poinsett and Henry Warren serving on various committees.

In the racing events, fifty-three boys and girls were awarded trophies and other prizes as first and second place winners. Dennis Woolley, Danny Nau, Vivian Dule and Janice Klein took top honors in the freckle-counting contest.

Pie-eating eliminations were won by Richard Calloway, Billy Roberts, Linda Crooks, Paul Kropoff, and Nancy Austin.

Grand prize was won by Nancy Austin. Hot dogs, ice cream and soda were served to all those present. A grab bag of candy was given to each child at the end of the program.

One Egg is Big Enough For Whole Omelet

VALDEERS, Wis., Oct. 2 (INS)

—Mrs. Clara Zettlow, a candler at the Lakeland Egg Cooperative in Valders, Wis., claimed a world's record egg.

She said it weighed eight ounces and had five yolks.

J. B. Hayes, professor of poultry husbandry at the University of Wisconsin, said eggs with two or three yolks are fairly common but that this is the first time he ever heard of one containing five yolks.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Thou shalt not be afraid of the terror by night, nor for the arrow that flieth by day. — Ps. 91:5.

The things that we fear most seldom happen. God brings good out of evil. We suffer more from fear than we do from ill fortune. God guided his world before we were born. He did all right.

BARGAIN BOMBS

It is reported American science is nearing discoveries about fusion of the hydrogen atom which would render the H-bomb easy and cheap to manufacture in quantity.

The novelty lies in a possibility of detonating hydrogen without the agency of an expensive A-bomb to produce enormous temperatures heretofore needed. So it is said at any rate. And being reduced already by atomic science to a state of total gullibility, the average citizen is quite ready to accept it as an eventual, if not accomplished, fact.

So now mankind is in for another era, treading on the heels of the A and the H, in which even the tiniest and most impoverished country will be in a position to blow up everything and everybody. Already the H-bomb area begins to wear an air of homely quaintness.

Maybe, to look on the bright side of the matter, this atomic business really is destined to reduce itself and war with it to an absurdity. One is never sure how the Kremlin may feel about it, of course.

But to a rational person war would seem to have forfeited its ultimate attraction when the belligerents might reduce each other to bloody rubble only to find the principality of Monaco unpierced by the result with the world's last dozen H-bombs.

Your Birthday by STELLA II

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2 — Born today, impulse and inspiration appear to govern your life and that is a combination that needs plenty of watching. Sometimes it is difficult to discover where one ends and the other begins. Often the two are so closely allied that you, yourself, cannot be sure. But, if you are to become successful, learn to know when an idea is a real, honest inspiration, capable of being developed into a workable plan and when it is merely an impulse which should be discarded, ruthlessly.

You have a deep and sincere nature and one which is sympathetic toward the needs of all people less fortunate than yourself. You believe in letting deeds, rather than words, express your sympathy. You are a natural leader and should win the confidence and support of many people for any program which you instigate. That is another reason it is so important for you to be wise in knowing when an idea is really workable.

You have dignity and personal calm. You are able to help others who are in trouble and usually your advice is excellent. Yet, you are not one to give that advice unless explicitly asked to do so. But when approached you are always ready and willing to be helpful. There are, in fact, many con-traditions in your nature which need to be balanced properly if you are to become an all around integrated personality.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3
LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Just drop the job overboard for the week end. Plan to play as hard as you usually work. Relax tensions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Seek out a quiet spot with congenial companions and relax, rather than attempt celebrating too hilariously.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — See what you can do about changing your perspective over this week end. A little excitement will pep you up.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Get out into the country if you can for one of those early autumn week ends. Do you a world of good.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Don't attempt to carry a briefcase full of work home. You won't do it, so leave it at the office.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20) — Forget business worries for a couple of days, and you will go back to them on Monday with a new outlook.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20) — Be cooperative with those on the home front. Pitch in and help get an unpleasant job done and finished.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21) — Do only what has to be done. Spend the balance of your time just doing nothing, for a change. You'll benefit.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Emotional tensions, if they have been mounting again, need relaxing. A change of scene usually helps.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — If a little excitement will relax you and release nervous tensions, then get out on the town and celebrate.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Probably a trip into the autumn country-side will do you as much good as anything. Take a train, if you have it, and get out on the town and celebrate.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Specialization and concentration on single objective will take you a good way toward your ultimate goal.

AAA Pleads Cut In Highway Toll

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2 — "This country is headed towards a record of 40,000 killed and 2,000,000 injured in traffic accidents by the end of this year," according to Frank E. Ballantyne, general manager of the Philadelphia branch of the American Automobile Association.

Ballantyne lists three primary objectives of a nation-wide program to prevent such a record. They are: "Firm and impartial enforcement of all speed laws. The employment of sufficient police to patrol the streets and highways with sufficient frequency to assure the arrest of motorists who violate any traffic laws."

"An uncompromising demand that courts hand down stern sentences for serious first offenses and repeated minor offenses."

The AAA, which has an office in Edgely, also pointed out that in about 12 states last year, 7,050 mental incompetents were found driving motor vehicles, after accidents and law violations.

Ballantyne said, "Let's learn the facts and tell our legislators and public officials that we want safer streets and highways in this State."

Former Missionary To Give Film Talk

The Rev. William W. Simons, a missionary of the Conservative Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, now on furlough in this country, will be guest speaker at First Baptist Church, Newtown, Friday, Oct. 9th, at eight p. m. He will give an illustrated talk, outlining his western China assignment and the life under Communist rule.

Mrs. Simon, the former Florence Crowell, Buckingham, went with her husband to China in 1948. They were forced by the Communists to leave their home near the Tibetan border and then went to the Philippines, where they taught school for a year. Because of ill health, they have returned to Buckingham.

WASHINGTON REPORT
By Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 — Memo to Fulton Lewis, III:

Well, Bud, you are duly endorsed in college, and you deserve congratulations for the job you did during the summer, in your apprenticeship as a reporter.

Like every other cub, you were searching for your big story—the scoop that would earn you prestige among the older, experienced correspondents with whom you sat, daily, at the press table in congressional hearings, or in the House and Senate galleries.

LEWIS, JR. Don't be too disappointed that it never came; it will be a long time in coming. What you were doing may have seemed unimportant and futile. Think back over the broadcasts and columns, however, and you'll realize what a large amount of your material was used, and found its way to the minds of millions of Americans. That ought to put a different light on the matter.

Always remember that however minor a role you play in the beginning, you're a link in the chain of freedom that was forged as the birth of this republic. That chain is a lifetime for free men, but it's only as strong as the individual men and women who dedicate their lives in the crucible of free speech and free expression, make it.

You know your history: The defiance and courage that was demonstrated by the first newspapermen in Colonial days, who challenged a kingdom to write the truth. That may seem remote, in terms of today, but history has a way of repeating itself.

The same courage is needed today to write the truth, and the same urgency is upon us, as you will discover in the days and years to come. Our freedom is being threatened now no less than then; so let there be no confusion in your mind as to the importance of the job you were doing—and will do throughout your life.

Perhaps you'll hear with me if I point out a few of the pitfalls that you will encounter, as you grow up in the world's noblest profession. There are many, believe me.

Most of them, however, can be avoided if you keep always before you this simple device: You are a reporter. Your job is to write what you see and hear, whether it sickens you physically—as a riot, or a fire, or an accident—or a killing may do—or whether it disgusts your intelligence and disturbs your soul. As a reporter, you are one of the nerve ends in the eyes and ears of freedom. Listen well and keenly; see clearly and incisively; for the truth often is hidden behind wily artifices, contrived by self-serving minds and evil hearts.

That does not mean, mark you, that what you see and hear cannot bear the imprint of your own intelligence. Obviously, it must be processed by the mill that is your mind, just as grain must be processed through the grinding stones. And in the recording of what you see and hear, in the writing, the qualities and values that are within you will appear on the paper.

You have worked and will work again with other reporters at press tables in congressional hearing rooms. Most are older men, with years of experience in their pencil tips and, tragically, many are men who long ago ceased to be reporters. As you will discover for yourself, they have become advocates of a way of life that is alien and hostile to the freedom we seek to maintain.

They are, for the most part, frustrates, who long forgot or never had the concept that theirs was a role of self-dedication to the service of their fellow man, totally and without reservation. They have become seduced by the economics of three meals a day, and a roof overhead, and a few beers to opiate their dissatisfaction with them-

Men Come Into Own In Capitol Whirl

By Inez Robb
NEW YORK, Oct. 2 — (INS) — As an ardent advocate of equal rights for men, I rejoice over the decision just announced in the nation's capital that the husband of a lady government official is just as good as his wife, socially speaking.

No matter what the wife's rank in Washington, D. C., it has been decided that the husband is just as good as the wife, socially speaking. If the lady is entitled to sit above the salt, her husband is entitled to put his feet under the mahogany and adjust the feed bag in an equally prominent spot.

In social and class-conscious Washington, this decision ranks in importance with that in the Dred Scott case. Heretofore, the husband of a lady official never knew whether he would be fed in the pantry or merely checked with the wraps.

Now he is to be fed and watered with the rest of the guests, and occupies a place at table approximately across from his wife, on whose Annie Oakley he came in the first place. This is indeed an historic milestone in man's long fight for equality.

This decision at the moment applies to William P. Hobby, Houston publisher and former governor of the sovereign state of Texas. Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, the only lady member of President Eisenhower's cabinet is his wife.

I am certain that Mr. Will is taking his new honors and his pioneer role without undo fuss. I doubt he has ordered so much as one extra boiled shirt in preparation for the capital's social whirl.

The last time I encountered Mr. Will, he was more interested in what he ate than where. But he will eat front and center from now on—and just as regularly as his wife.

Men are receiving recognition in other fields, too. To my intense surprise, I received a chain letter two days ago which I shall reprint in toto just to give you an idea as to what is happening to men today.

"Mrs. Frank Sinatra

"Mrs. Olivia Dionne

"Mrs. Dick Haymes

"Mrs. Alfred Charles Kinsey

"Mrs. Joseph F. McCarthy

"Dear Friend:

"This chain letter is started with the desire to bring hope and happiness to tired housewives.

"Unlike most chain letters, this does not cost you a cent.

"Simply send a copy of it to five of your housewife friends who are equally tired. Then, bundle up your husband and send him to the woman whose name appears at the top of the list.

"When your name comes to the top of the list, you will receive 16,178 men and some are bound to be dandies.

"Have faith. Don't break the chain. One woman broke the chain and got her own husband back. Write today; don't delay."

This letter, simple as it is, eloquently reveals how much men are in demand. With women now outnumbering men in the nation's population, some women will do anything to get a husband, no matter whose.

Naturally, I paid no heed to this communication, as I feel certain that Clark Gable and Charles Boyer are probably over-subscribed already. But I think such a letter should give men the self-confidence and encouragement they need, and is valuable from that angle.

Nor did I wrap up my husband and send him to Mrs. Sinatra, although he did not seem averse to the idea. A good man is hard to find, and although I am willing to take a reasonable gamble, it would be just my luck to get Frankie in return.

Senator Green, 85, Still A Bachelor

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 2 — (INS) — Senator Theodore Francis Green, the Senate's oldest member, was 86 today. A millionaire and a bachelor, Green combats questions touching on why he never married by saying with a most-obvious twinkle: "I've often thought that every leap year something would happen. "But spring comes and goes, then leaves fall off the trees, the snow comes and I begin to doubt. Pretty soon it is Dec. 31 and then I have to wait another three years. I'm beginning to give up hope."

Today's Quiet Moment

Charles E. Fair, Pastor
United Lutheran Church

Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, President of the United Lutheran Church in America, said that if Christianity could be summed up in one word—forgiveness. In the fifth petition of the Lord's prayer we come to the very heart and center of the Gospel. "Forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us." Some might pray this petition with the word debts, or sins, instead of trespasses. Regardless of the word you might use, you are confessing that you are a sinner. Each day, we sin against God by thought, word, and deed. Each day, we try again to hit the mark that has been set for us, but each day we fail to hit the mark. Each day, we should try to drown old Adam in us, and let the New Adam run our lives. But alas, we are incapable of obeying and loving God as we should. We sin. We commit errors. We rebel against God. And we seek for that peace of mind, or peace of soul, or peace of conscience.

Since we sin against God, it is of soul, or peace of conscience, forgiveness. He is the only One Who can forgive us. He is the only One Who wants to forgive us. Think of the ministry of our Lord, and how He forgave people of their sins. There was the lame man and He told him, "Thy sins be forgiven thee." And there was the adulteress, who when Jesus saw her, said, "Go, and sin no more." And upon the cross, He looked down upon the soldiers and the Pharisees and Scribes who had crucified Him. Then He cried out, "Father forgive them, for they know not what they do." There is mercy for you and me at the cross of Calvary. There is forgiveness for the sinner—the one who has stolen, the one filled with greed, the drunkard. Doesn't it make you feel good just to know that there is one Person Who not only has the power to forgive sins, but wants to forgive your sins? You could not buy this gift from Him. Nor could you go to any human being and receive the gift of forgiveness. When you pray this petition, be sincere and humble, and see the loving Christ with the outstretched arms and the plea of compassion: "Come unto me, all ye who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

The marriage of Miss Doris C. Sharp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sharp, 537 Linden street, and Mr. Alfred Griffiths, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Griffiths, Sr., Bath road, Bristol town, took place Sept. 26 at three o'clock in St. Mark's R. C. Church. The Rev. Albert C. Glass performed the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Fusco, Margo Gardens, brother-in-law and sister of the bride. A reception took place at the home of the bride's parents for 100 guests. The newlyweds are participating in a weeks honeymoon at New York, N. Y. The couple will reside at the Sharp residence.

A Light Touch With Powder

FLUFF ON POWDER with a light touch. For something new, try a combination powder and cream foundation packed in compact form.

By HELEN FOLLETT

DO you use cream or compact rouge? If you haven't tried out the creamy kind, do so just for fun. You'll find it has lasting qualities.

It should be blended from the cheekbone out and upward, with the highest color appearing toward the temple. You can put it on in little dots, blending them together carefully. Do you know that it is a good trick to leave a little pale spot in the center of the rouge application? Nature often does that.

The Splash Method

While dry rouge is used after powdering, powder is always applied atop the creamy kind. Some beauticians use what they call a splashing method. Powder is fluffed on instead of being rubbed in or patted on so the rouge will not be disturbed.

Do not put powder on your eyelids; it will make them look heavy. A bit of cold cream on the lids will often make eyes look dewy. Dewy eyes catch the attention of the susceptible male, or so we are told.

After splashing on powder, use the other side of the pad, buffing the skin over so lightly to remove any surplus. Then your complexion will have a nice velvet finish.

The Lightest Touch

Be sure to remove powder from the eyebrows and lashes. Brush it off the eyebrows with an upward and outward stroke; on the lashes just the lightest touch will do the job.

The brush you use for this purpose must be kept scrupulously clean. If you use mascara, have a separate brush for application.

If the countenance is long and narrow, it is a good plan to color the lower line of lashes as well as the upper growth. It makes the face look shorter by creating a cross line.

Helen Traubel Pins A Bouquet on Blues

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—(INS)—Helen Traubel, whose Brunnhilde and Isolde have thrilled millions of opera lovers, opened a two-week night club engagement today which will feature renditions of the St. Louis Blues and "a real piano player."

The noted Wagnerian soprano, who broke with the Metropolitan Opera this week, said she considered the St. Louis Blues of W. C. Handy "to be as great art as the Brunnhilde and Isolde" of Richard Wagner.

It was reported the singer would receive $4000 a week during her stay at the Statler Hotel's Embassy Room. This compared with the $500 top paid by the Metropolitan Opera for a single performance.

CIVIC CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Richard Washburn presided at a meeting of the Yardley Civic club today in the Pine Room of the Yardley Community Center. Chairman of the program was Mrs. William Rorer. The group will hear a book review by Mrs. Donald N. Barnes next Wednesday at Mrs. Washburn's home, 123 N. Delaware avenue, Yardley.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Thou shalt not be afraid of the terror by night, nor for the arrow that flieth by day.—Ps. 91:5.

The things that we fear most seldom happen. God brings good out of evil. We suffer more from fear than we do from ill fortune. God guided his world before we were born. He did all right.

BARGAIN BOMBS

It is reported American science is nearing discoveries about fusion of the hydrogen atom which would render the H-bomb easy and cheap to manufacture in quantity.

The novelty lies in a possibility of detonating hydrogen without the agency of an expensive A-bomb to produce enormous temperatures heretofore needed. So it is said at any rate. And being reduced already by atomic science to a state of total gullibility, the average citizen is quite ready to accept it as an eventual, if not accomplished, fact.

So now mankind is in for another era, treading on the heels of the A and the H, in which even the tiniest and most impoverished country will be in a position to blow up everything and everybody. Already the H-bomb area begins to wear an air of homely quaintness.

Maybe, to look on the bright side of the matter, this atomic business really is destined to reduce itself and war with it to an absurdity. One is never sure how the Kremlin may feel about it, of course.

But to a rational person war would seem to have forfeited its ultimate attraction when the belligerents might reduce each other to bloody rubble only to find the principality of Monaco unperturbed the result with the world's last dozen H-bombs.

Your Birthday by STELLA

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2 — Born today, impulse and inspiration appear to govern your life and that is a combination that needs plenty of watching. Sometimes it is difficult to discover where one ends and the other begins. Often the two are so closely allied that you, yourself, cannot be sure. But, if you are to become successful, learn to know when an idea is a real, honest inspiration, capable of being developed into a workable plan and when it is merely an impulse which should be discarded, ruthlessly.

You have a deep and sincere nature and one which is sympathetic toward the needs of all people less fortunate than yourself. You believe in letting deeds, rather than words, express your sympathy. You are a natural leader and should win the confidence and support of many people for any program which you instigate. That is another reason it is so important for you to be wise in knowing when an idea is really workable.

You have dignity and personal calm. You are able to help others who are in trouble and usually your advice is excellent. Yet, you are not one to give that advice unless explicitly asked to do so. But when approached you are always ready and willing to be helpful. There are, in fact, many con-traditions in your nature which need to be balanced properly if you are to become an all around integrated personality.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3
LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Just drop the job overboard for the week end. Plan to play as hard as you usually work. Relax tensions.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Seek out a quiet spot with congenial companions and relax rather than attempt celebrating too hilariously.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — See what you can do about changing your perspective over this week end. A little excitement will pep you up.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Get out into the country if you can for one of those early autumn week ends. Do you a world of good.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Don't attempt to carry a briefcase full of work home. You won't do it, so leave it at the office!
PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20) — Forget business worries for a couple of days, and you will go back to them on Monday with a new outlook.
ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20) — Be cooperative with those on the home front. Pitch in and help get an unpleasant job done and finished.
TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21) — Do only what has to be done. Spend the balance of your time just doing nothing, for a change. You'll benefit.
GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Emotional tensions if they have been mounting again, need relaxing. A change of scene usually helps.
CANCER (June 22-July 23) — If a little excitement will relax you and release nervous tension, then get out on the town and celebrate.
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Probably a trip into the autumn country-side will do you as much good as anything. Take a trip if you haven't a car.
VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Specialization and concentration on a single objective will take you a good way toward your ultimate goal.

AAA Pleads Cut In Highway Toll

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2 — "This country is headed towards a record of 40,000 killed and 2,000,000 injured in traffic accidents by the end of this year," according to Frank E. Ballantyne, general manager of the Philadelphia branch of the American Automobile Association.

Ballantyne lists three primary objectives of a nation-wide program to prevent such a record. They are: "Firm and impartial enforcement of all speed laws. The employment of sufficient police to patrol the streets and highways with sufficient frequency to assure the arrest of motorists who violate any traffic laws."

"An uncompromising demand that courts hand down stern sentences for serious first offenses and repeated minor offenses."

The AAA, which has an office in Edgely, also pointed out that in about 12 states last year, 7,050 mental incompetents were found driving motor vehicles, after accidents and law violations.

Ballantyne said, "Let's learn the facts and tell our legislators and public officials that we want safer streets and highways in this State."

Former Missionary To Give Film Talk

The Rev. William W. Simons, a missionary of the Conservative Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, now on furlough in this country, will be guest speaker at First Baptist Church, Newtown, Friday, Oct. 9th, at eight p. m. He will give an illustrated talk, outlining his western China assignment and the life under Communist rule.

Mrs. Simon, the former Florence Crowell, Buckingham, went with her husband to China in 1948. They were forced by the Communists to leave their home near the Tibetan border and then went to the Philippines, where they taught school for a year. Because of ill health, they have returned to Buckingham.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 — Memo to Fulton Lewis, III:

Well, Bud, you are duly ennobled in college, and you deserve congratulations for the job you did during the summer, in your apprenticeship as a reporter.

Like every other cub, you were searching for your big story—the scoop that would earn you prestige among the older, experienced correspondents with whom you sat, daily, at the press table in congressional hearings, or in the House and Senate galleries.

LEWIS, JR. Don't be too disappointed that it never came; it will be a long time in coming. What you were doing may have seemed unimportant and futile. Think back over the broadcasts and columns, however, and you'll realize that a large amount of your material was used, and found its way to the minds of millions of Americans. That ought to put a different light on the matter.

Always remember that however minor a role you play in the beginning, you're a link in the chain of freedom that was forged as the birth of this republic. That chain is a lifetime for free men, but it's only as strong as the individual men and women who dedicate their lives in the crucible of free speech and free expression, make it.

You know your history; The defiance and courage that was demonstrated by the first newspapermen in Colonial days, who challenged a kingdom to write the truth. That may seem remote, in terms of today, but history has a way of repeating itself.

The same courage is needed today to write the truth, and the same urgency is upon us, as you will discover in the days and years to come. Our freedom is being threatened now, no less than then; so let there be no confusion in your mind as to the importance of the job you were doing—and will do throughout your life.

Perhaps you'll hear with me if I point out a few of the pitfalls that you will encounter, as you grow up in the world's noblest profession. There are many, believe me.

Most of them, however, can be avoided if you keep always before you this simple device:

You are a reporter. Your job is to write what you see and hear, whether it sickens you physically—as a riot, or a fire, or an accident—or a killing may do—or whether it disgusts your intelligence and disturbs your soul. As a reporter, you are one of the nerve ends in the eyes and ears of freedom. Listen well and keenly; see clearly and incisively; for the truth often is hidden behind wily artifices, contrived by self-serving minds and evil hearts.

That does not mean, mark you, that what you see and hear cannot bear the imprint of your own intelligence. Obviously, it must be processed by the mill that is your mind, just as grain must be processed through the grinding stones. And in the recording of what you see and hear, in the writing, the qualities and values that are within you will appear on the paper.

You have worked and will work again with other reporters at press tables in congressional hearing rooms. Most are older men, with years of experience in their pencil tips and, tragically, many are men who long ago ceased to be reporters. As you will discover for yourself, they have become advocates of a way of life that is alien and hostile to the freedom we seek to maintain.

They are, for the most part, frustrates, who long forgot or never had the concept that theirs was a role of self-dedication to the service of their fellow man, totally and without reservation. They have become seduced by the economics of three meals a day, and a roof overhead, and a few beers to opiate their dissatisfaction with them-

Men Come Into Own In Capitol Whirl

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 — (INS) — As an ardent advocate of equal rights for men, I rejoice over the decision just announced in the nation's capital that the husband of a lady government official is just as good as his wife, socially speaking.

No matter what the wife's rank in Washington, D. C., it has been decided that the husband is just as good as his wife, socially speaking. If the lady is entitled to sit above the salt, her husband is entitled to put his feet under the mahogany and adjust the feed bag in an equally prominent spot.

In social and class-conscious Washington, this decision ranks in importance with that in the Dred Scott case. Heretofore, the husband of a lady official never knew whether he would be fed in the pantry or merely checked with the wraps.

Now he is to be fed and watered with the rest of the guests, and occupies a place at table approximately across from his wife, on whose Annie Oakley he came in the first place. This is indeed an historic milestone in man's long fight for equality.

This decision at the moment applies to William P. Hobby, Houston publisher and former governor of the sovereign state of Texas. Mrs. Oveta Gulp Hobby, the only lady member of President Eisenhower's cabinet is his wife.

I am certain that Mr. Will is taking his new honors and his pioneer role without undue fuss. I doubt he has ordered so much as one extra boiled shirt in preparation for the capital's social whirl.

The last time I encountered Mr. Will, he was more interested in what he ate than where. But he will eat front and center from now on—and just as regularly as his wife.

Men are receiving recognition in other fields, too. To my intense surprise, I received a chain letter two days ago which I shall reprint in toto just to give you an idea as to what is happening to men today.

"Mrs. Frank Sinatra
"Mrs. Olivia Dionne
"Mrs. Dick Haymes
"Mrs. Alfred Charles Kinsey
"Mrs. Joseph F. McCarthy
"Dear Friend:

"This chain letter is started with the desire to bring hope and happiness to tired housewives.
"Unlike most chain letters, this does not cost you a cent.
"Simply send a copy of it to five of your housewife friends who are equally tired. Then, bundle up your husband and send him to the woman whose name appears at the top of the list.

"When your name comes to the top of the list, you will receive 16,178 men and some are bound to be dandies.
"Have faith. Don't break the chain. One woman broke the chain and got her own husband back. Write today; don't delay."

This letter, simple as it is, eloquently reveals how much men are in demand. With women now outnumbering men in the nation's population, some women will do anything to get a husband, no matter whose.

Naturally, I paid no heed to this communication, as I feel certain that Clark Gable and Charles Boyer are probably over-subscribed already. But I think such a letter should give men the self-confidence and encouragement they need, and is valuable from that angle.

Nor did I wrap up my husband and send him to Mrs. Sinatra, although he did not seem averse to the idea. A good man is hard to find, and although I am willing to take a reasonable gamble, it would be just my luck to get Frankie in return.

Senator Green, 85, Still A Bachelor

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 2 — (INS) — Senator Theodore Francis Green, the Senate's oldest member, was 86 today. A millionaire and a bachelor, Green combats questions touching on why he never married by saying with a most-obvious twinkle: "I've often thought that every leap year something would happen.
"But spring comes and goes, then leaves fall off the trees, the snow comes and I begin to doubt. Pretty soon it is Dec. 31 and then I have to wait another three years, I'm beginning to give up hope."

"But spring comes and goes, then leaves fall off the trees, the snow comes and I begin to doubt. Pretty soon it is Dec. 31 and then I have to wait another three years, I'm beginning to give up hope."

A covered dish luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m. under direction of Mrs. Russell Janney, Mrs. Leroy Nixon, Mrs. Norman Kratz, Mrs. Horace Tomlinson, Mrs. Michael Heverin and Mrs. Clarence S. Schonefmeier, Jr.

The business meeting will convene at 2 p. m. with Mrs. Marvin V. Keller presiding.

Mrs. Raymond Gross, Langhorne, will be guest soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Friedrich, Langhorne.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Charles V. Cornell and Mrs. S. Paul Woodman.

A meeting of the executive board will be held October 5 at 2 p. m. in the clubhouse.

Gifts in Variety Given Bride-Elect

ANDALUSIA, Oct. 2—A bridal shower was given Sept. 29 in honor of Miss Theresa Catherine McDonald. The affair was arranged by several co-workers at the Gill Glass and Fixture Co., Philadelphia. Miss McDonald received an electric toaster, a bedroom clock, a bouquet of flowers and a corsage.

Another shower was given in honor of Miss McDonald at her home last week by her mother and sisters. About 40 were present.

Former Bristolian Planning to Wed

(Special to The Courier)
The approaching marriage of Miss Helen C. Wilson, 21, former Bristol girl, now of 54 Eldridge street, New York, N. Y., to Salvatore DiMartino, 26, also of New York, was disclosed today when the couple obtained their license to wed at the New York city clerk's office.

Miss Wilson was born in Bristol, the daughter of Harry and Catherine Breslin Wilson. He fiance, the son of Joseph D. and Josephine G. DiMartino, was born in New York.

The couple did not reveal wedding plans, other than to indicate that they would be married in New York soon.

MUSICIANS ENGAGED FOR OPENING NIGHT

ANDALUSIA, Oct. 2—The Vestry of the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer will open the Lower Bensalem Youth Center Oct. 7th. The Center will be open every Wednesday from eight to 11 p. m. in King Hall.

An orchestra will provide music for dancing the opening evening.

Rodgers to Add Rooms to Hotel

A 34-room hotel will be constructed at 106 Monroe street by the end of the year, according to its owner, Thomas Rodgers.

The Rodgers Hotel, the first hotel in Bristol borough's 6th ward area, will be built by the Cherubini Builders, Bristol.

The building is presently a sixteen-room house with six apartment rooms on the third floor. The additional rooms and floors will be added to the present structure.

Today's Quiet Moment

Charles E. Fair,
Pastor
United Lutheran Church

Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, President of the United Lutheran Church in America, said that if Christianity could be summed up in one word—forgiveness. In the fifth petition of the Lord's prayer we come to the very heart and center of the Gospel. "Forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us." Some might pray this petition with the word debts, or sins, instead of trespasses. Regardless of the word you might use, you are confessing that you are a sinner. Each day, we sin against God by thought, word, and deed. Each day, we try again to hit the mark that has been set for us, but each day we fail to hit the mark. Each day, we should try to drown old Adam in us, and let the New Adam run our lives. But alas, we are incapable of obeying and loving God as we should. We sin. We commit errors. We rebel against God. And we seek for that peace of mind, or peace of soul, or peace of conscience.

Since we sin against God, it is of soul, or peace of conscience, forgiveness. He is the only One Who can forgive us. He is the only One Who wants to forgive us. Think of the ministry of our Lord, and how He forgave people of their sins. There was the lame man and He told him, "Thy sins be forgiven thee." And there was the adulteress, who when Jesus saw her, said, "Go, and sin no more." And upon the cross, He looked down upon the soldiers and the Pharisees and Scribes who had crucified them. Then He cried out, "Father forgive them, for they know not what they do." There is mercy for you and me at the cross of Calvary. There is forgiveness for the sinner—the one who has stolen, the one filled with greed, the drunkard. Doesn't it make you feel good just to know that there is one Person Who not only has the power to forgive sins, but wants to forgive your sins? You could not buy this gift from Him. Nor could you go to any human being and receive the gift of forgiveness. When you pray this petition, be sincere and humble, and see the loving Christ with the outstretched arms and the plea of compassion: "Come unto me, all ye who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

A Light Touch With Powder

FLUFF ON POWDER with a light touch. For something new, try a combination powder and cream foundation packed in compact form.

By HELEN FOLLETT
DO you use cream or compact rouge? If you haven't tried out the creamy kind, do so just for fun. You'll find it has lasting qualities.

It should be blended from the cheekbone out and upward, with the highest color appearing toward the temple. You can put it on in little dots, blending them together carefully. Do you know that it is a good trick to leave a little pale spot in the center of the rouge application? Nature often does that.

The Splash Method
While dry rouge is used after powdering, powder is always applied atop the creamy kind. Some cosmeticists use what they call a splashing method. Powder is fluffed on instead of being rubbed in or patted on so the rouge will not be disturbed.

Do not put powder on your eyelids; it will make them look heavy. A bit of cold cream on the lids will often make eyes look dewy. Dewy eyes catch the attention of the susceptible male, or so we are told.

After splashing on powder, use the other side of the pad, buffing the skin ever so lightly to remove any surplus. Then your complexion will have a nice velvet finish.

The Lightest Touch
Be sure to remove powder from the eyebrows and lashes. Brush it off the eyebrows with an upward and outward stroke; on the lashes just the lightest touch will do the job.

The brush you use for this purpose must be kept scrupulously clean. If you use mascara, have a separate brush for application. If the countenance is long and narrow, it is a good plan to color the lower line of lashes as well as the upper growth. It makes the face look shorter by creating a cross line.

Helen Traubel Pins A Bouquet on Blues

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2—(INS)—Helen Traubel, whose Brunnhilde and Isolde have thrilled millions of opera lovers, opened a two-week night club engagement today which will feature renditions of the St. Louis Blues and "A real piano player."

The noted Wagnerian soprano, who broke with the Metropolitan Opera this week, said she considered the St. Louis Blues of W. C. Handy "to be as great art as the Brunnhilde and Isolde" of Richard Wagner.

It was reported the singer would receive $4000 a week during her stay at the Statler Hotel's Embassy Room. This compared with the $500 top paid by the Metropolitan Opera for a single performance.

CIVIC CLUB MEETS
Mrs. Richard Washburn presided at a meeting of the Yardley Civic club today in the Pine Room of the Yardley Community Center. Chairman of the program was Mrs. William Rorer. The group will hear a book review by Mrs. Donald N. Eames next Wednesday at Mrs. Washburn's home, 123 N. Delaware avenue, Yardley.

Bulldogs May Come by Air

If it is a passing duel Neshaminy High wants tomorrow night—odds are it will be—Morrisville's determined Bulldogs may be prepared to oblige.

The Bulldogs, who had worked overtime arranging a defense for the aerial circus that is Neshaminy football, have taken some time out to sharpen their own passing tools. Coach Gordon Davies, who believes two can play the passing game, guided his charges through a lengthy offensive drill yesterday. Much of the time was consumed in pitching practice with quarterback Frank Pesce on the firing line.

Pesce, who throws behind a big, protective line, is not the pinpoint passer that the Redskins boast in tall Ken Kaufman. He is, however, a veteran back, cool under fire and a heady commander.

Favorite Targets
Favorite targets in Morrisville's pass patterns are ends Joe Kettner and Ron Paxson, a pair of tall gen-

Bristol Girls Win, 2-0, Over Bensalem

The Bristol High lassies won their second straight game of the Lower Bucks County Field Hockey League yesterday, beating Bensalem, 2-0.

It was the second straight game in which Coach Barbara Yerkes' team showed a defense so strong that the opponent was held scoreless. The Warriorettes have scored seven goals in two tilts.

Nancy Almond scored the first goal just seconds before the end of the first half. It was her sixth goal of the season. Aided by her offensive work, Mary Lattanzi scored the other marker in the second half.

Mary Ellen Tentilucci captained the Bristol girls in the contest which was Bensalem's first loss in two starts.

SYNOPSIS
Returning to his home in Denfield, Colorado after a long absence in Mexico, Philip Haven, a writer, finds his young niece, Libby, who also served as his secretary, missing from the house. Believing that she may be visiting her cousin Kit in New York, Haven phones the latter's apartment only to learn that Libby had not been there. Kit, hastened by train to the Denfield house where she and her Uncle Philip, and her Aunt Miriam, a neurotic, are joined by Hugo Caranagh, an attractive young attorney who once had courted Libby. Search of Libby's room reveals a note, urging her family not to worry, promising that they shall hear from her soon. The unfamiliar cigarette butt in the room might indicate that Libby had had a male visitor. Kit's thoughts fly to classically handsome Tony Wilder, whom Libby had met at a party in New York, who she'd seen in a completely overwhelmed by that god-like young man's charm. The next day Kit returns to New York, hopeful of locating Libby, a trail which leads her at last to the abandoned apartment of Tony Wilder in Greenwich Village. Here she is startled to find Hugo Caranagh prowling through the rooms. "Looking for clues," he says. "I'm from a charwoman and others lead Kit and Hugo to the lush up-town home of Eleanor Oaks, a blonde middle-aged former actress, whose horse-pole vanishes when Kit bluntly states that Libby may have eloped with Tony Wilder."

CHAPTER SIX
KIT AND HUGO didn't speak in the hall or in the elevator. They quailed under the canopy outside the revolving door while they waited for a cab. "Say it," Kit said.

Hugo said: "All right. What was the point of antagonizing that woman?"

"All I could think of was Libby, and that you were taking too much time—"

"Hugo picked it up from there. 'And that I was basking in the warmth of Miss Oaks' passing interest in anything in trousers while you sat by attracting no attention at all.'"

Kit was stung. "That will cover it, Hugo. It's terribly nice to feel I'm understood."

He said: "You believe in using an axe. But that's not the way to handle women comfortably settled without portfolio in Park Ave. apartments—particularly when they turn out to have criminal records."

At her sharp glance, her "What?" he nodded.

"Ex-actress. Not Broadway—Newark and Poughkeepsie. I remember it quite well, you're a little too young. The wife of Eleanor Oaks' leading man died under suspicious circumstances. I think it was sleeping pills. The husband was convicted and got life. She got off. We'll have to—"

He stopped talking. His eyes were riveted on a car standing at the curb near the corner. It was a yellow convertible with a black top. He left Kit, went over to the commissionaire, talked to him for a moment, and came back. The yellow convertible with the black top belonged to Eleanor Oaks.

They gazed at each other. Eleanor Oaks had lied about the degree of her intimacy with Tony Wilder, as she had lied about not knowing his address which she had given to Kit earlier. She hadn't lied to them, she had lied for the benefit of the man she called Sweetie, who had come silently and suddenly into that room up there.

"It would be interesting to know who Sweetie is," Hugo murmured. Kit didn't answer. She was staring.

Limping Indians Seek First Win At Lr. Moreland

Injury-ridden Council Rock High which is located at Newtown, shoots for its first football conquest of the campaign tonight in its first venture outside the league, an 8 o'clock go at Lower Moreland High in Huntingdon Valley.

The Indians, losers to Delhaas and Bensalem in successive league scraps, will be the underdog again tonight. Lower Moreland has a 22-0 victory over Collegeville on the books for its lone outing this year.

Injuries to key personnel and the expulsion of No. 1 fullback Joe Mulhern have bitten deeply into Indian chances. Guard Bob Dager has been ruled out of action tonight and his running mate, dependable Bill Traub, is expected to see only limited service.

Spare Center
Regular center John Aldrich will be used but sparingly elsewhere in the line. His hand is in a cast as the result of a broken finger and he will be unable to serve as snapper-back. In his place Coach Dom Sagolla has planned to use Bob Mengel, a converted end.

Bob Teschner, the Indians' most capable running back, is scheduled to start but may need relief early. Teschner played only in spots against Bensalem last week. Earl Johnson, also on the sick list during the Bensalem disaster, is in trim again and ready to start in Mulhern's fullback post. The latter was dropped from the squad because of what Sagolla termed "a poor attitude."

With Teschner and Johnson in the tribe's backfield will be Cecil Morris at right half and Jim Cull under center.

Council Rock was a 7-6 winner over the LM eleven at home last year.

hitting line that is expected to give as much as it takes against the Neshaminy picket works.

Davies pronounced his team's running game "half decent" after yesterday's drills, but still was not satisfied with its passing. More work was scheduled in that department as the Bulldogs tapered off for the big one in today's final drill.

The Morrisville coach has called up his fastest and most battle-wise backs and ends to form a defensive secondary for the clash. He understandably expects Neshaminy to come through the air for the most part. The Redskins passed 32 times last week in subduing Delhaas, 28-0, for their second league win this year and 11th straight triumph over two seasons.

The Bulldogs will have to keep at least three Neshaminy passers—Kaufman, Don Cameron and Bob Wilt—under thumb. They will have to contend with four or more sure-fisted receivers in Cameron, Stan Covington, a six-four end, Monty Ahlum and Joe Morones, chances are Davies will play Ahlum, Cameron and perhaps Covington on a man for man basis when all three are operating at once.

Delhaas Girls Tie Southampton, 2-2

Showing great promise in their first field hockey of the season, the Delhaas High School girls held Southampton High to a 2 to 2 draw at Bristol Terrace field yesterday.

June Ritter scored both goals in the first half for Delhaas while Helen Kies and Joyce Jesberger scored for Southampton. Last year the girls were swamped by Southampton in a 7 to 0 contest.

Warriors, Tigers In LBCL Clash

Bristol and Delhaas Highs clash tonight at 8:15 under the BHS lights in the inauguration of what promises to be a long and interesting neighborhood rivalry.

The borough-township "championship," probably the only crown either club will approach this campaign, is at stake. There is no favorite, Bristol moving in with an indifferent 1-2 season log and Delhaas at 1-1.

In this first varsity meeting between the twain, Coach Chic D'Angelo's split-T team is given a slight offensive edge. Coach John Anton's dogged defenders appear better compared for the task of protecting their real estate.

Bristol, weakened last week when two regulars sat out a 24-6 bruising at the hands of Pennsylvania, will be at top physical strength. Sprinter Larry Cohen, a major breakthrough threat, is back in shape. Tackle Tom Brescia, a rugged veteran, is ready for at least limited duty. And Dom Sottile, hobbled for two games, is ready to run at full tilt.

Potent Backfield
Sottile and Cohen will team with heady Ed Conca, a passing quarterback, and blustery Andy Gall in the Warrior backfield. Tony Monti, a latecomer to the squad, will spell Gall in his initial appearance this fall.

For the Tigers, it will be Bob White under center with Bob Morris at fullback posing the most potent threat. Joe Gleason, Harry

Gym Club for Men Opens Oct. 12 at 'Y'

The Lower Bucks YMCA will again sponsor a gym and recreation club for men at the Bristol Branch Building at 906 Mansion street every Monday evening, beginning Oct. 12.

Physical Director George Sperling said the 'Y' is endeavoring to provide a varied program of fun, fitness and fellowship for all men in the Lower Bucks area.

The program will feature many new activities in addition to last year's set-up. It will include quoits, table tennis, handball, volleyball, basketball, cageball, deck tennis, zebball, medicine ball, aerial tennis, badminton, archery, riflery, novelty games, wands, Indian Clubs, and organized calisthenics. Rules, fundamentals and competition in all activities will be organized and presented.

Interested persons can register at the 'Y' building the opening evening.

Yankees Halfway Home

NEW YORK—(INS)—The New York Yankees were half way home to a record fifth straight world championship today and the desperate Brooklyn Dodgers came home to Ebbets Field to battle for their World Series lives.

Significantly, the dying Dodgers called again on Carl Erskine, their top right-hander, to try to stop their winless skid in the third game. The do-or-die emergency was further aggravated by the fact that catcher Roy Campanella might be forced to the bench because of an injured right hand.

The Yankees, who went two up Thursday when Mickey Mantle powered a two-run homer off Preacher Roe in the eighth inning to fashion a 4-to-2 Bomber triumph planned to pitch series-wise Vic Raschi in the third game.

Good Weather
Prospects of fair, summer weather figured to pack Brooklyn's back yard with some 33,000 rooters. The only encouraging thing, from a Dodger standpoint, was the fact that the next three games - or less - were slated for their own home grounds.

The greatest team in Dodger history was an 11-to-10 favorite to win today's game, but the incomparable Yankees ruled solid 3-to-1 choices to cop the golden anniversary series. And this was quite within reason.

Brooklyn hit the Yanks with the force of an H-bomb in the opener and lost. The Bums tried to soft-deal them with the cunning saw-paw slants of thin man Preacher Roe Thursday and they lost again.

History Agin 'Em
History showed that no team that ever trailed 2-0 came back to win in a seven-game series. The 1921 Giants, down for a two count to the Yankees of that day, did rise up to take the series - but that was when the Autumn big show was on a best-of-nine basis.

Campanella, suffering from a badly bruised and swollen right hand - an injury sustained in the opener when Allie Reynolds hit him with a pitched ball - had extreme difficulty swinging a bat Thursday. And his absence from the lineup could be fatal.

So, the "SOS" call went out to Erskine, the slender 200-pound winner whose earned - run - average for the series was "36," since he gave up four runs while surviving only one inning in the first game.

Champs' Farmers In 'Little' Series

MONTREAL—INS—The New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers carry their rivalry into the Little World Series tonight at Montreal.

Kansas City, the Yanks' American Association farm club, meets Montreal, International League farm club of the Dodgers, in the little series starting tonight.

Raschi, with an unimpressive record of 13-6 during the season, presented a 5-2 series record. The 34-year old right-hander downed the Dodgers twice in the 1952 classic and boasted a 3-1 mark over them since 1947.

Mantle's Blow
Mantle's game-winner broke up a thrilling duel of southpaw non-eleven, lost an opener to Penn-

Two Games Slated For Area Gridders

One Lower Bucks County League scrap is on tap for area fans tomorrow afternoon, while a third conference grid unit moves into Philadelphia for an exhibition contest.

Pennsbury High, rated 1-2 with Neshaminy in the conference, moves on lowly Southampton in search of its second loop victory against one defeat. Bensalem (2-1) goes to the city to tangle with the always - formidable Pennsylvania School for the Deaf as it continues to prepare for rougher league competition.

Pennsbury will rule a strong favorite over Southampton, whipped, 25-7, by Morrisville in its only outing this year. The Falcons showed good punch, but little poise in losing, 24-20, to Neshaminy in an opener, but looked remarkably improved in trouncing Bristol, 24-6, last week.

Falcon backs Dave Bray, Mike Baldovski, Jim Razlow, Dan Felver and Mort Caffey, operating behind a big, mobile line, are expected to hold too much punch for the Greyhounds.

PSD is expected to furnish a good test of Bensalem's improvement over the last three weeks. The Owls, boasting a veteran

AMA Says Quacks Prey on Hopes of Cancer Patients

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 2 — (NS)—The American Medical Association charged today that vicious quacks are preying on cancer patients and their families by selling them "false hopes" for curing the disease.

Dr. Paul Wermer, secretary of the AMA's Pharmacy and Chemistry Research committee, assailed the "venal and negative" interests in testimony before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee.

The Congressional group is conducting public hearings on the effects of cancer, heart disease, poliomyelitis and other ailments are having on the nation's economy and general welfare.

Wermer told the committee that the AMA has been hit by numerous lawsuits while endeavoring to "turn the searchlight of truth" on cancer quacks.

But he added: "It is significant to note that although we have been sued for more than 40 million dollars in all, we have been obliged to pay but one judgment and that in the nominal sum of one penny."

Information Agency
Noting that the AMA maintains "an agency for the collection and dissemination of information on nostrums and quackery," the doctor said:

"Even now several nostrums are being promoted to the public either on representation that the cures are obtainable or that the proponents are experimenting clinically with something new and valuable in the management of cancer patients."

Neither the nostrums nor the persons offering them were named by Wermer, but he said their claims extend to achieving cures "beyond the conventional methods of treatment used by medicine."

At Thursday's session, first in a series of 15, AMA President Edward J. McCormick said he has strong hope that cancer, heart disease and polio may be conquered in 10 years.

YMCA Launches Guides Program

The Lower Bucks YMCA Indian Guides program, whose main purpose is to multiply the number of things fathers and sons can do together, has been launched for the fall and winter.

The Indian Guides operate in a tribal neighborhood setting, ranging in ages as young as six. They meet bi-monthly in the homes of the members. O. E. Norbeck, associate general 'Y' secretary says: "The YMCA believes that the comradeship of father and son has mutual advantages that no other program offers. The distinctive genius of Indian Guides is the challenge for dads to give a block of time to their ever-growing sons. Unfortunately, some dads take the easy way out by turning over the vital job of guidance to their sons, are giving the greatest gift of all."

A Longhouse powwow for all-area Chiefs, Tallykeepers and Wampum Bearers will be held at Chief Norbeck's wigwam at 8 p. m. next Thursday.

Lower Bucks dads can get complete Indian Guidance information by contacting Chief George Dorland, 304 Austin Drive, Fairless Hills, Chief Carl Reitz, 25 Sunset Lane, Levittown, Chief John Eves, 141 Farmbrook Drive, Fairless Hills, or 'Y' secretary Norbeck.

Action is Taken In Trio of Cases By Civil Court

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 2 — Action is listed in three cases involving Lower Bucks County persons in Civil Court.

Margaret M. Badolato, 600 Second avenue, Croydon, has named her husband, Caesar Badolato, 622 Bath street, Bristol, the respondent in a libel in divorce filed in the Court of Common Pleas. They were married Feb. 4, 1943 in Elkton, Md.

Charles Maximowicz, 409 Clymer avenue, Morrisville, has been named defendant by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in an action in assumpsit. The state seeks to recover $1525.89. Stella Maximowicz and children received benefits from Sept. 3, 1947 until April 1950.

An appeal has been filed in the Prothonotary's Office, following a judgment rendered by Justice of the Peace George F. Zarr, in favor of Francis T. Buckley, Hulmeville, for $207 plus the costs and against Jack H. Shriver, 330 Berkshire road, Fairless Hills. The judgment was given at a hearing on Aug. 12. It results from automobile damages involving the plaintiff, Buckley and Shriver, the defendant.

GRASS FIRES PUT OUT
Volunteer firemen extinguished grass fires yesterday at 3 p. m. on the Ladascher property, Green street and Bristol Pike, Eddington, and at 3:30 p. m. at New York and Birch streets, Cornwells Heights. The fire calls were answered by Eddington, Cornwells Heights and Union firemen.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

By STANLEY

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:

Boy Caught Between Mother and Girl

"DEAR MISS WOODWARD:

I'm having trouble with my mother because I have a girl. And I'm having trouble with my girl because of my mother. I'm caught in the middle, and it's a mess.

"I've been going steady for three months now and my girl and I are crazy about each other. But my parents think I'm too young for a steady girl and if they knew I had one they'd do anything to break us up. And that would hurt and embarrass me. They know who she is, but they don't know of all the times we're together, and they'd have fits if they knew. So I have to sneak.

"I give excuses for going out, have phony reasons for not coming in when my parents tell me to. There are ruckuses galore at home, and I seem to take it out on my girl by being jealous, distrustful and suspicious. And she says if I keep that up we'll break up. That I don't want to happen. Can you please help me get out of this fix?"

If your mother would cheerfully lift the lid and graciously invite you to spend every waking minute with your girl and stay out as late as you please, that would fix things, wouldn't it? And if your girl would knock under and do nothing to arouse your suspicions, that would fix things, too, wouldn't it?

But what are you going to do to fix things yourself? Are you willing to compromise with your heart's desires in order to ease the strain at home and abroad?

Well, the first thing is to cope with your parents' idea that you're too young to have a steady girl. Review that subject with them, and let the cool sweet breezes of reason blow through it. They might wind up granting that it's possible for you to like one special girl very much indeed. They might even allow as how it's possible you might want to have two or three dates during a week with her. They might even revise the curfew schedule when they know what's involved in the evening's plans. But unless they know, they're going to go right on being distrustful.

This contest was sponsored by the conservation and garden committee of Newtown Junior Century Club, of which Mrs. Robert Bodine is chairman. Serving as judges were Mrs. Bodine, Mrs. J. Watson Cornell, Mrs. Francis Soden and Mrs. Willis A. Campbell, Newtown. The prizes were made possible through generosity of a Newtown businessman.

Ideas on Falsies

Win Her $38,850

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 2 (INS) — Mary G. Smith of Orange, Conn., an inventor of a new type falsie, was $38,850 richer.

The money is the total of an out-of-court settlement announced by lawyers for the La Resistia Corset Co. of Bridgeport, and for Miss Smith who accused the firm of stealing her ideas for a plastic pneumatic bladder for brassieres.

NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of Bucks County, No. 20, September Term, 1953.

FREDERICK MOORE, JR. vs. EMMA MELOTT, also known as Emma Mohler, her heirs, Personal Representatives and Assigns. The above defendants are notified that Frederick Moore, Jr. has commenced an action to quiet title against them. The Complaint avers that Frederick Moore, Jr. is the owner of Lots Nos. 562 and 563, situated in the Township of Bensalem, County of Bucks and State of Pennsylvania. Plaintiff claims title thereto by deed recorded in Deed Book No. 1125, Page 319, from the County Commissioner of Bucks County, who in turn acquired title by two deeds of the County Treasurer recorded in Treasurer's Deed Book No. 240, and Treasurer's Deed Book No. 10, page 230, following sales for unpaid taxes on said lots.

On September 28, 1953, said Court directed by deed recorded in Deed Book No. 1125, page 323, from the County Commissioner of Bucks County who in turn acquired title by two deeds of the County Treasurer recorded in Treasurer's Deed Book No. 240, and Treasurer's Deed Book No. 10, page 230, following sales for unpaid taxes on said lots.

Former Olympic Champion Joins Bristol Township Staff

By BARBARA A. ZAUNER

Samuel John Coursen, a former member of the U. S. Olympic wrestling team, is a new addition to the Bristol Township elementary school faculty.

Samuel is the eldest of Louis and Mamie Coursen's two sons. He was born and reared in Forty Fort, where his parents gave their children a happy and secure family background. They encouraged their varied talents.

Sam, from early childhood, had always shown a keen interest in athletics. Being slight in build, he was not the All-American fullback type, but he went out for track and wrestling, excelling in the latter. While in high school, he placed second in his weight division for four consecutive years in the Pennsylvania State wrestling finals.

Sights on Physical

His high school years were the foundation of what he would be his life work. He set his sights on physical education, and his wrestling and track were not only good background for this, but were responsible for his receiving many scholarship offers upon high school graduation in June, 1949.

Springfield College, Columbia, Lehigh, Waynesburg, Gettysburg were among those colleges and universities which offered athletic scholarships to young Samuel.

He and his parents investigated all the schools and chose Springfield College in Springfield, Mass., for its superior rating in physical education. His high school coaches were in full agreement and encouraged this choice.

Dropped Track

During his college years Samuel dropped track and specialized in wrestling. For four years he won the New England wrestling championship, and for two years he was captain of the Springfield College wrestling team. In 1952 he was voted the outstanding wrestler in New England by the New England Coaches Association. Other honors included the wedding of his high school sweetheart, Anne, in December, 1950.

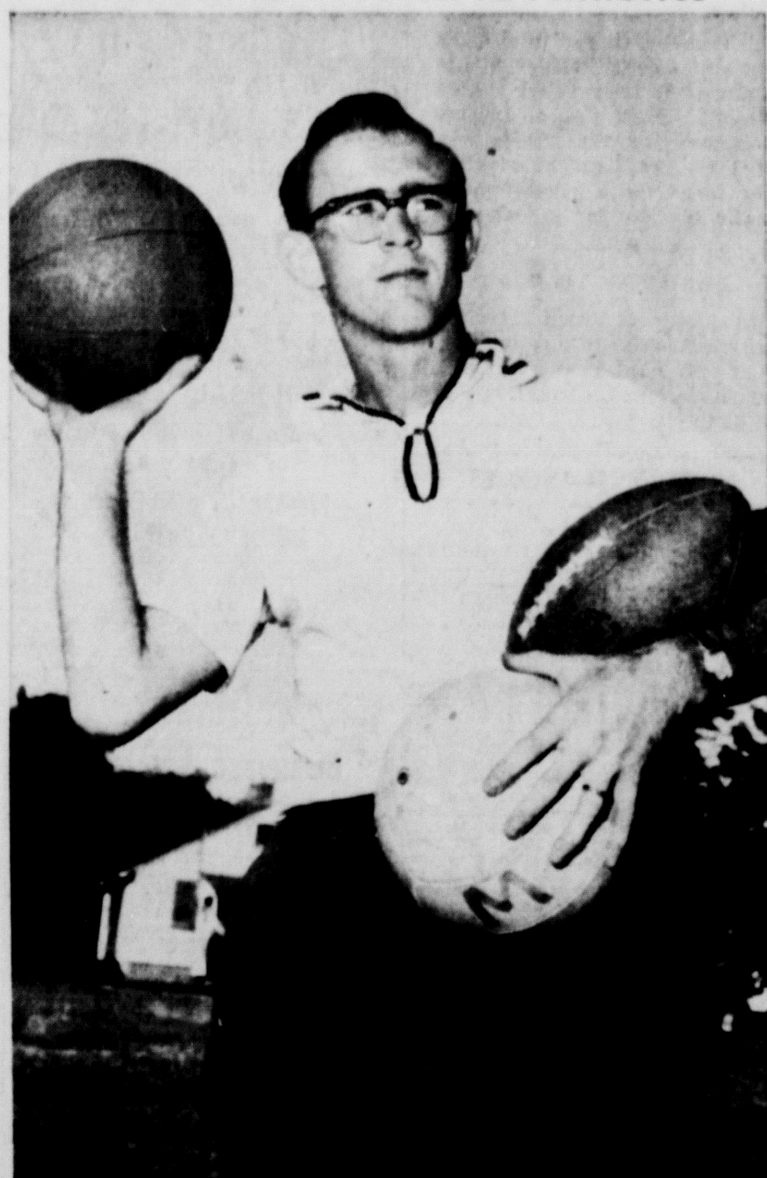

In March, 1952, he got his big opportunity. He competed in the New England tryouts for the U. S. Olympic team. Winning that, he went on to the All-U. S. competition which was held in Ames, Iowa, on April 1, 2, and 3, 1952. He placed second in his weight class of 114½ pounds, thus qualifying for the Olympics.

The 16 members of the team were sent first to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis for two weeks of intensive training. Following this they were sent to New York to board the Pan-American DC-4, destination, Helsinki, Finland, and the Olympic Games. Approximately sixty other young men and women representing the United States in other fields of sport made the trip with them.

Finnish Fine Hosts

The Finnish people were fine hosts. The Olympic competitors were housed in special modern Olympic village. An interesting feature was the large dining room in which foods of all nations were served. Though strong rivalry existed between the teams of all nations, the social occasions were notable for the friendly atmosphere which prevailed without exception.

A happy coincidence for Sam was that his bride was on an educational tour, sponsored by Springfield College, of all the Scandinavian countries. She was able to spend two and a half weeks at the games with her husband.

Sam arrived back in the U. S. with his team Aug. 5, 1952. A personal crisis awaited him. During his absence Springfield had eliminated all its athletic scholarships for seniors. With his degree one short year away, his wife worked and he also worked 35 hours a week, in addition to carrying a full college schedule. His valued B.S. degree in physical education was received in June, 1953.

Sold on Spot Here

Back home with his wife and parents in Forty Fort, Pa., next on the agenda was finding a promising teaching position. Mrs. Dorothy McCollom, director of elementary education for the Bristol Township elementary schools, together with friends from home who were all members of that faculty, sold him on the teaching opportunities here.

He liked the township, and the opportunities it presented for the present and future. He liked the school authorities, and knew he would be happy working with them. He liked Levittown as a young people's growing community.

At this time Mr. Coursen is assisting the Health Department of the Bristol Township elementary schools. He spends a very full week traveling to the elementary schools in the district, giving the children gymnastic training. They play ball, do exercises and join in varied games. The children enjoy it and love him, and he's having the time of his life. He will have a class in the new John Fitch School.

Happy and Contented

Happy and content, the young Coursen family has decided to make this a permanent home. Anne and their now seven-week-old daughter, Beth Anne, will be coming down from Forty Fort where they have been staying with Sam's parents, to move into a ranch home in Levittown in November.

Planners Set Zoning Topic For Discussion

Zoning and building codes will be the subject of the next panel-discussion meeting for local officials arranged by the Bucks County Planning Commission.

This session, the second in a series of 6 Wednesday evening meetings, will be held at 8 o'clock on October 7.

Like the others, the meeting place for this discussion will be the Council Rock High School, Newtown.

Featured on the informal program, which is designed to provide information on local powers and procedures for officials in the townships and boroughs of the county, will be the following:

Leonard H. Point, zoning officer of Varrington Township, who will speak on his experience in administering a new zoning ordinance in his community; Harry S. Hoffman, president of the Bucks County Association of Township Supervisors and secretary of Lower Merion Township, whose subject will be the administration of a building code; George Duval, member of the Board of Directors of the Citizens' Council for Bucks County Planning, who will discuss the importance of securing local support for zoning; and Robert W. Pierson, resident planner for Carl W. Wild, planning consultant to the Bucks County Planning Commission. Mr. Pierson will speak on new approaches to zoning.

Zachary T. Wobensmith, Jr., chairman of the Warwick Township Zoning Board of Adjustment, will be moderator for the session.

The next meeting in the series is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 14, on the subject of subdivision design and control.

Officials of State Hail Observance of Newspaper Week

HARRISBURG, Oct. 2 — INS — Public officials joined today in hailing National Newspaper Week in Pennsylvania.

Here are their comments: GOV. JOHN S. FINE—"A free press conscious of its duty is a powerful ally to good government. If the press fails in fairness and freedom, it can detract from good government."

U. S. SENATOR EDWARD MARSHALL—"I consider the press of our commonwealth to be the finest in our country—alert, vigilant, resourceful, forthright and altogether tireless in their never-ending search for truth."

U. S. SENATOR JAMES H. DUFF—"We can see the effect of iron curtain censorship upon our returning war prisoners, who were denied access to the every-day news which all of us take for granted here in America. These boys snatch up American newspapers as eagerly as they reach for good American food."

STATE REVENUE SECRETARY OTTO F. MESSNER—"The newspapers in Pennsylvania have given the commonwealth's traffic safety efforts the very finest kind of assistance. It is this continuing cooperation, I am sure, that has made our creditable highway safety record possible."

STATE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION FRANCIS B. HAAS—"The newspapers are constantly providing information concerning the crucial problems and issues in national and world affairs confronting pupils, parents and other adults, all of which makes for sound and critical thinking."

Benefit Show Aids Church's Fund For New School

An initial check of $1000 was presented to the Rev. Daniel J. Daly, Newtown, Monday evening, by T. Frank Devlin, Jr., chairman of the committee which sponsored presentation of "Paint Your Wagon" at the Music Circus, Lambertville, N. J. The affair was given for benefit of the school fund of St. Andrew's R. C. Church, Newtown.

Mrs. David J. Matthews, Sr., and Joseph Dembeck were recipients of watches, the donation of Mr. Devlin, for having sold the greatest number of tickets for the production.

Fairless Represented

The largest single group represented was from Fairless Steel Co. Much entertaining was done before the performance. William Begley, uncle of Mr. Devlin, entertained at his home in Yardley, the officers and wives of the Bristol Trust Co., a party of 47 in all, before dinner at the River House in New Hope, and the Circus.

Family Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. George Benetz, Newtown, entertained at a family dinner at the River House Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sedla, Mrs. Nicholas Volk and Miss Victoria Vollmer. Another group of Newtownians at the same dining place were Mr. and Mrs. Winn Wright, Mrs. Lillian Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Sheeran, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Taggart, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Miller, Mr. and Mrs. David L. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Winsor G. Eveland, Mr. George Granzow, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Fabian, Mrs. Howard Schaffer and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rapuano, Newtown.

Many Bucks Pupils Get Half Sessions

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 2 — 8659 pupils are on part sessions, county school authorities announced this morning.

The opening of new school facilities before Thanksgiving will reduce this number to below 6000, County Superintendent Charles H. Boehm said. One out of every three children are not on full sessions, Boehm's office said.

The following school systems have pupils on part sessions: Pennsbury, Bensalem, Bristol Township, Tullytown, Upper Southampton, Neshaminy, and Delhaas. The Neshaminy schools opened on Monday this week, bringing the county's enrollment in the public schools over 28,000.

U. S. Steel Changes Sales Price Policy

Benjamin F. Fairless, chairman of the board of directors of United States Steel Corporation, yesterday announced a revised sales policy for the firm.

Under the new policy, the corporation will continue to quote prices F.O.B. its mills, or if the consumer desires, delivered prices which reflect full transportation charges from shipping point to destination.

The revised policy permits the meeting of a lower delivered price of a competitor, when necessary and commercially desirable, in order to participate in the business of an individual customer. Fairless pointed out that the new policy does not constitute a return to the so-called multiple basing point method of selling, which was abandoned in 1948.

POE IN TROUBLE

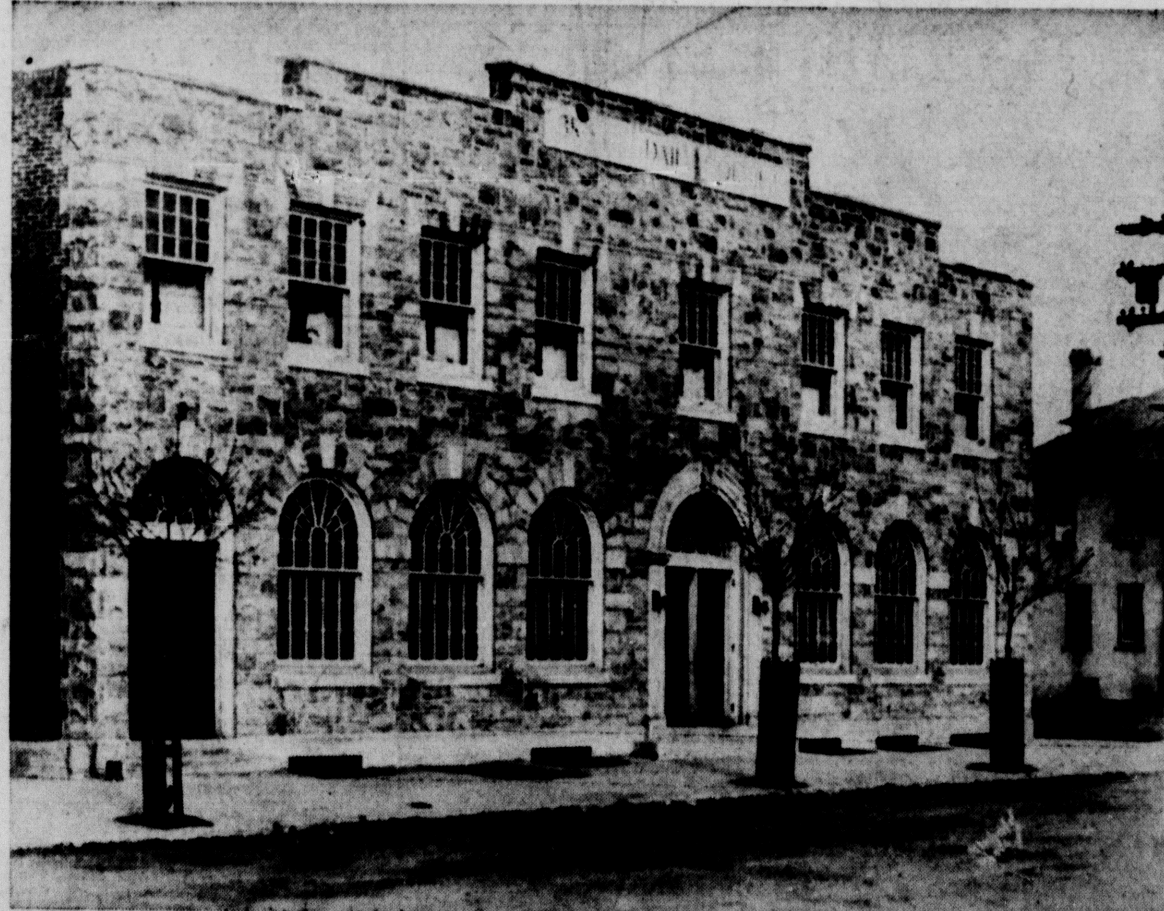

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 2 (INS)—Edgar Allen Poe of Columbus has been indicted by the Franklin County grand jury on charges of burglary and grand larceny. Authorities charged Poe, 21, broke into the apartment of his brother-in-law in Columbus and stole $125 in money and personal possessions.

Ask Army Permit To Lay Pipelines

The Sinclair Pipe Line Co. has applied for an Army permit to lay a submarine pipeline across Rancocas creek, according to Col. Walter Krueger, Jr., district engineer.

The site chosen by the pipe line company is on the upstream side of the New Jersey Turnpike bridge between Westampton and Mount Laurel townships, Burlington county, N. J.

In The Good Old Days

THE BRISTOL COURIER offices in the days before the COURIER's expansion program, shown above, illustrate the many changes which have been made to give the Lower Bucks County public a bigger, better and more modern newspaper. The second floor, at the time of this picture, contained living quarters. It now houses the offices of the General Manager, Advertising Manager, Controller, Managing Editor and the News Department.

Looking Over The Pledge List

MORE THAN $126,000 has been pledged to the Lower Bucks County Hospital Completion Campaign by about 4,000 employees of Kaiser Metal Products, Inc. Examining a partial list of the contributors, are, from left to right: John Spadacino, co-chairman of the employee division; Fred Bechill, vice-president commercial division; Harold Hunter, Farmers National Bank, hospital drive campaign chairman; Ralph Collett, vice-president, aircraft division, and Anthony Nicol, vice-president of UAW-CIO, Local 150, chairman of Kaiser's employee drive.

Farm Prices Show Further Declines

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 — INS — The economic outlook for America's farmers appeared a bit darker today. The Agriculture Department reported farm prices suffered a further decrease during the month ending Sept. 15.

The latest survey lists parity ratio at 92 per cent, or the lowest point since June, 1941. This figure indicates the relationship between prices received by the farmer for his commodities and prices paid out for living expenses and farm operations.

The index, which shows prices paid out by farmers for these various expenses, also declined fractionally during the month.

This latest report followed by less than one week an order from Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson for his department to investigate the wide disparity between low meat prices and high consumer prices.

Two Area Bankers To Attend Meeting

Henry H. Bunting, of the Morrisville Bank, and Harold F. Hunter, Farmers National Bank of Bucks County, will attend the Pennsylvania Bankers Association Lending Conference in Harrisburg on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 6-7.

These Bucks County bankers are among a group of more than 250 bank personnel from all parts of Pennsylvania who will attend the conference.

The Lending Conference program lists an outstanding roster of speakers and panel members who will discuss the many broad phases of bank lending operations: commercial loans, installment loans, and mortgage loans. Installment loans will be covered at the Tuesday session and Wednesday's schedule will treat commercial loans in the morning and mortgage loans in the afternoon.

A discussion of Pennsylvania's new Uniform Commercial Code will feature the Tuesday morning session. James V. Vergari and Murdoch K. Goodwin, general counsel and assistant counsel, respectively, of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, will present this subject. The code, which is scheduled to go into effect on July 1, 1954, marks a milestone in the evolution of the conduct of commerce in Pennsylvania.

Disney School Wins 3d - Graders' Okay

Architect's plans for the Walt Disney School must be approved by the state before Tullytown school board orders construction started, but the whole school project yesterday received overwhelming approval in a poll of Mrs. Myrtle French's third grade pupils at Tullytown Elementary School. "The children told me they think the new school is wonderful," Mrs. French announced after her pupils examined a scale model of the proposed building. "They said it has everything they were promised."

"Everything we asked for was put into the school," third-grader Gary Lindemuth, of 295 Pinewood drive, added, "Except an ice skating rink, but I don't care about that."

"I think the new school is very nice," said Janet Seidner, of 55 Lavendar lane. "I hope it gets built soon."

Give Opinions

Further sampling of the opinions of the future occupants provided the following comments:

"I like the movie room and playroom," said Sharon Morges, of 48 Summer lane.

Charles Matlack, of 68 Lavendar lane: "What I like best is the laboratory in each classroom."

Mary Jane Goldthorpe, 36 Lilac lane: "I like the big place where you can play outside."

Donald Kaiser, 490 Lakeside drive: "I like the place in each room where you can paint, because I want to be an artist when I grow up."

Although youthful Levittowners dominate Mrs. French's class, children living in pre-Levitt Tullytown were also expressive in approving the school.

Billy Baker, of Main street, listed his favorite feature as "the playground."

Likes Shelter

"I like the place outdoors where you can stand when it rains," said Charles Virginia Conca, of Main street, whose father, William H. Conca, is solicitor for the school-building organization, Tullytown School Authority.

The doll corner in each classroom was the favorite item of Rose Sesan Feldman, of 309 Pinewood drive. Other pupils' choices were:

Billy Webb, 68 Lavendar lane "The large parking lot."

Rosemary Podrazec, "the flag flying over the school."

Betty Broder, 90 Stonybrook drive, "The cafeteria."

Albert Larkins, 50 Lilac lane liked: "the baseball field."

"I want a stand for parking bicycles," said Arline Higgins, of 47 Laurel lane.

"I like the whole school," said John Whitekettle, of 2 Locust lane. "I think it's going to be the prettiest school in Levittown."

Savings in Relief Continue to Grow, State Reveals

HARRISBURG, Oct. 2 — INS — Savings of $75,000 a month at a cost of $2,800 were reported today under the commonwealth's experimental program of enforcing support orders for persons on relief.

Attorney General Robert E. Woodside, in his last report as head of the Justice Department, said the amount of savings is increasing every month as the fight is pushed against parents liable for support of persons receiving public assistance.

Conducted in 7 Counties

Woodside moved up to the State Superior Court yesterday.

The program has been carried on in seven counties by special deputy attorneys general who devote all their time to the work.

"Projected on a state-wide basis, a biennial saving of at least $6,000,000 could accrue to the commonwealth," Woodside said.

He said between $500,000 and $1,000,000 has been saved in state public assistance funds at a cost of $40,000.

Under Support Law

The program is being carried out under the support law which permits the state to require deserting parents living elsewhere to support their Pennsylvania dependents.

Under the reciprocal policy, the commonwealth has handled 400 cases for other states against persons living in Pennsylvania and has initiated action against 1,500 Pennsylvanians living elsewhere.

Area Maps Part In Civil Defense Drill On Tuesday

Although the 3,000-man Civil Defense Mobile Unit of Bucks County will not operate as a part of the state-wide apparatus in an air raid alert Tuesday, this area will still participate fully in the drill, according to R. Fell, executive director of Bucks County Civil Defense.

From 7:02 to 7:10 p. m., Tuesday, local auxiliary policemen and air raid wardens in each township and political subdivision will take over in the absence of a county director or assistant-director.

Fell said the absence of a central organization has not held back the county in its preparation for the practice alert.

No Insurance Fund

On Aug. 14 Brig. Gen. Wilson H. Stephenson, county director of civil defense police and air raid wardens, and Lt. Col. Norman Van Amburgh, his assistant, resigned because there were no provisions made for insurance to cover accidents suffered in the performance of civil defense assignments.

The state assumed no responsibility for the functioning of the unit, it was learned at that time, and individual participants would be financially responsible for any damages or damage suits.

Local Directors to Set

Fell added that it was probable no one would be appointed to fill the vacancies caused by the resignations. Rather, he said, local directors will fill the gaps.

According to State Civil Defense Director Richard Gerstell, the object of the test will be to check the effectiveness of the volunteer services and learn to what extent the public will cooperate to carry out individual measures of self-protection.

Residents were again reminded that the "red alert" signal is a three-minute warbling sound on sirens, or intermittent sounding of horns or whistles for three minutes. The "all-clear" is a one-minute steady blast of the warning devices, sounded three times at two-minute intervals.

Motor-vehicle operators must "pull to the side," leaving one lane open for emergency vehicles. Occupants must take cover if available. Truck drivers may remain to guard the contents of their trucks. Pedestrians, too, will be required to take cover until the all-clear sounds.

Bucks County is sending police to the city's "gateways" to act as liaison between Philadelphia, hypothetically hit by an atomic bomb, and this area. Sabotage problems have been set throughout the County to test the resourcefulness of its Township and Borough directors.

Autumn Programs Now in Full Swing At Trenton YWCA

Sessions of fall activities of the Trenton YWCA are scheduled for October 5 the "Y" announced.

Clubs for teen-agers and business girls are underway. Classes in Health Education will open Oct. 5. Ballet classes with Miss Phyllis Marmen of New York, opened on Sept. 30. A class in social dancing for juniors is scheduled for Thursdays. Many swimming classes are filled. Registrations are open for later classes.

Special features for early date, this season, include evening dinner and discussions for all committee members and leaders on Monday, Oct. 5; Open House and Circus for fun and information on Friday, Oct. 9; weekends at camp and Washington, D. C. for business girls.

Reservations are still available for the latter.

A new club for high school grads of June 1953 and coed clubs for teen-agers have been formed.

For young home-makers, an all-day program on Thursday will offer gym and swim class, followed by lunch, then a club hour with a supervised play room for children.

Saturday dances will continue with Vince Practice and his Orchestra and Hans and Lucy Schulze calling square dances in the auditorium. YWCA officials said. The squares are growing in popularity each week and newcomers will be welcomed.

Push Sewer System For Lambertville

As a result of approval of a new sewer disposal system for Lambertville, David Barnett, sewer authority chairman, announced the system will be installed within 15 months. The new system will cost $1,000,000.

Of 642 ballots tabulated by members of the sewer authority, the city commissioners and the city clerk, 385 voted for the system, 242 were opposed, and 16 were voided. A total of 1,080 ballots were mailed to property owners earlier, returnable within three days.

Barnett has contacted the consulting engineers and told them to begin construction.
